Assails F.D.R. Moves to End Neutrality.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21.—Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] tonight demanded that President Roosevelt submit the issue of entering the war to congress, in the American way, instead of committing one warlike act after another on the pretext of upholding "international law" or "freedom of the seas."

Fish and Attorney Amos Pinchot, a member of the board of the America First committee, upheld the nonintervention cause in a radio debate on "Freedom of the Seas" over the Mutual network.

The case for intervention was argued by James H. R. Cromwell, former minister to Canada, and Dr. William Y. Elliott, Harvard professor now attached to the Office of Production Management.

Congressman Fish, who is the ranking minority member of the foreign affairs committee, particularly assailed the proposal to repeal the neutrality act in order, as he termed it, to create more excuses for entering the war.

Claim Majority for Repeal.

His declaration on this issue was significant in view of the current interventionist propaganda about the nonintervention forces having been routed. Administration leaders concede that repeal of the neutrality act would have been defeated decisively on Aug. 12, when the house voted to extend the service of conscripts and other army personnel by a margin of only 1 vote, but now claim a substantial majority for repeal of the law.

Revocation of the neutrality act would permit the President to arm American merchant ships and send them, loaded with war munitions, directly to English ports. Such a vote by congress also would enable the administration to represent it as an indorsement of the President's declaration of a shooting war against axis submarines, raiders, and aircraft, as well as supporting any future intervention steps he might take.

Follows George's Warning.

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], former chairman and ranking majority member of the foreign relations committee, warned yesterday that it would not be fair to the American people to treat repeal of the neutrality act as the "ultimate decision" of peace or war which, he said, they alone should make, thru their elected representatives in congress.

Such essentially was the argument made by Congressman Fish tonight. "If we are to enter the war, let us do so with our heads up, and for the best interests of the American people, and not by subterfuge or thru fake issues," he said.

"If the American people want to get into the war let us say so, honestly and in a democratic and American way by a majority of congress. But for heaven sake, let us stop being contemptible hypocrites about it.

Not a One-Man Decision.

"I denounce as utterly untenable and un-American the argument that congress should turn over to one voice and one man the formation of our foreign policies even to involvement in one war. If that were true it would mean the end of constitutional government in America and the substitution of the very essence of Nazism and dictatorship in its place.

"Americans are united in support of war in defense of the United States and the American continent, but only a small minority favor putting this country into an offensive war."

Fish placed responsibility for the sea incidents arising from the transportation of supplies to Iceland squarely upon President Roosevelt's decision to occupy Iceland. Congress of necessity will acquiesce in the accomplished fact of that occupation and in all steps necessary to supply Iceland, but it will not acquiesce in convoying war supplies to England, to the Red sea and everywhere else on the seven seas, he said.

Cites Breaches of Law.

"We are talking about freedom of the seas and the sacred principle of international law for ourselves, yet we have repeatedly disregarded and violated the rights and privileges of neutrality, upon which freedom of the seas is anchored." Fish continued. "We have seized belligerent ships in our ports and turned them over to enemy nations. We have repaired and outfitted belligerent warships in our

NAZIS CAPTURE 150,000; GAIN ON BOTH FLANKS

Arrive at Azov Sea; Win Baltic Isles.

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—Smashing at both flanks of the 2,000 mile long Russian battlefront, the Germans declared today they had captured 150,000 Red troops and driven to the Sea of Azov in the south and wrested control of the soviet defended Baltic islands of Oesel and Muhu in the north.

The drive to the shores of Azov apparently cut off the entire Crimean peninsula—possibly setting the stage for a new Dunkirk.

As the Germans cleared the sea lanes toward Leningrad, a special war bulletin claimed complete control of Oesel and Muhu—the island of the moon—had been won by army, navy and air forces despite dogged soviet resistance.

Scattered Forces Remain.

Arensburg, capital of the former Estonian island of Oesel which the Russians fortified, was said to be in German hands. Only scattered soviet forces still held out at the western end of the island, the Germans reported.

[A German radio broadcast heard in London said trapped defense forces at Leningrad were trying repeatedly to "break thru the iron ring" around the big port, but that they were beaten back by heavy fire.]

With Nazi forces in control of Oesel and Muhu, Germans said they now have captured the last Russian base in the recently sovietized Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania.

[The Russians, however, still hold a base on the Hango Peninsula, across the Gulf of Finland, which they obtained from the Finns in the 1940 peace treaty.]

Removes Bar to Navy.

It was asserted here that the German navy would be able to operate along the Estonian coast and in Riga bay without fear of attack from soviet guns or naval units stationed on the two flat, stony islands. Heretofore the Russian position at the mouth of the Riga bay had enabled them to control movements in that sector.

Germany, it was recalled, also occupied Oesel and Muhu during the World war—in October, 1917—and in the following February marched into Estonia from there.

The seizure of Muhu by a surprise attack from the mainland starting a week ago opened the way for the German assault upon the larger near-by island of Oesel.

200 Guns Lay a Barrage.

More than 200 guns laid down the opening barrage, Bruening said, while tiny storm boats, each loaded with six fully equipped infantrymen, headed for Muhu.

At the same time bombers sped overhead to soften soviet resistance with heavy explosives.

As the first landing party neared the shore the reporter said the Russians sought to frustrate the Germans "with direct artillery fire, with machine guns and anti-aircraft and with anti-tank guns."

Three Russian bombers dived to the attack and were driven off by Nazi fighters, he recounted.

"Many a boat was shot thru like a sieve, many a motor failed and many a brave helmsman died," he said. "Nevertheless in the hail of defense fire the landing maneuver was accomplished.

Fight for a Foothold.

"The first couple hundred yards of ground were won as a bridgehead thru hard and costly fighting.

"Storm boats meantime started the return trip in order to transport the next company. They returned with wounded and some dead."

By nightfall, Bruening asserted, the Germans had a solid foothold on Muhu and the Russians were beginning to fall back.

Communiques from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters indicated the Nazi war machine was rolling steadily eastward along the whole southern flank and forecast confidently a crushing Russian defeat between the Dnieper and the Donetz rivers, where fighting still rages.

Word that the swastika battle flag had been carried across the narrow

Norse Crown Princess Guest of Roosevelt

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt was revealed today to have played a familiar rôle—that of host to royalty—during his week-end visit to his family home in the aristocratic upper reaches of the Hudson river.

It was disclosed that Crown Princess Martha of Norway and her entourage were week-end guests at the Roosevelt home. The princess, who has become a great favorite of Mr. Roosevelt since she sought refuge in this country, arrived at the Roosevelt estate yesterday en route to Washington from a summer at Cape Cod, Mass. The princess and her party left here tonight for Washington with Mr. Roosevelt aboard the Presidential special at the President's invitation. In the royal party are her lady in waiting and a court chamberlain.

Met President Before War.

It was disclosed the purpose of the President's visit here was to play host to the Princess and her party and to settle affairs of the estate of his mother, Sara Delano Roosevelt, who died Sept. 7.

The crown princess has been a frequent visitor at Hyde Park and the White House. She first met the President when she and Crown Prince Olav visited Hyde Park before the start of the European war.

Within a few years she and the President have become close friends. The President paid her a high compliment by taking tea with her at her estate outside Washington, which she purchased a few months ago at a reported price of $252,000. Mr. Roosevelt almost never accepts invitations to homes in the Washington area.

Duke and Wally to Be Guests.

The President also will play host to royalty Thursday in the White House. At that time the duke of Windsor [the former King Edward VIII. of England] and his American born duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, will be luncheon guests. Edward gave up the throne to marry Mrs. Simpson. The duke and the duchess will stop at the White House en route from the Bahamas to the duke's ranch in Canada. The duke is colonial governor of the Bahamas.

On his arrival in Washington tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt will confer with his congressional and administrative leaders on speeding the supplemental 5 billion 895 million dollar lend-lease appropriation thru congress.

Participating in the conference will be Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Harry Hopkins, lend-lease supervisor; Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee; Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], speaker of the house; John McCormack [D., Mass.], house majority leader; Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.], chairman of the house appropriations committee, and Clifton Woodrum [D., Va.], chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee, which will handle the lend-lease appropriation.

Noninterventionist forces in congress are expected to attack provisions of the request which would permit granting lend-lease aid to Russia. It also is expected they will seek a detailed accounting of the expenditure and allocation of the 7 billion dollar appropriation voted last March.

DEBT OF 150 BILLION LOOMS FOR COUNTRY, SENATOR CLARK SAYS

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21 (AP).—Asserting the nation was heading toward bankruptcy, Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] predicted today a national debt of 150 billion dollars by the end of the next fiscal year if armament and lease-lend spending continues to be increased at the current rate.

Clark, a member of the senate finance committee, said congress "will have to raise 4 billion dollars annually forever to pay the interest alone on the national deficit."

He predicted the tax bill passed recently would be superseded by another "within a year."

Clark, who is home for a few days' rest, said in an interview that 13 billion dollars had been appropriated by lease-lend in the last six months and that most persons do not realize how much it is.

"If they realized that it means roughly $100 per head for every man, woman, and child in the United States, they could see where the country is heading," he added.

Woman Seized by Hitch-Hiker; 3 Die in Crash

Elizabethtown, Ky., Sept. 21 [Special].—Three persons were killed in an automobile collision near here early today. State police said the crash came shortly after a hitchhiker forced two persons at knife point to leave their auto and drove off with a 46 year old Columbus, O., mother as his prisoner.

Mrs. Ruth M. Bentz. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The dead are Mrs. Ruth M. Bentz, Columbus, O.; E. J. Bean, 33, of Broken Arrow, Okla., the hitch-hiker, and Eugene Meyers, 21, of Elizabethtown, a civilian employé at Fort Knox.

Drove to Louisville.

State Patrolman G. C. Ray said that Bean, discharged last night from his job in an Elizabethtown filling station, was picked up by a car containing Mrs. Bentz, her son, Private John A. Bentz Jr. of Fort Knox, and Miss Ruth Vore, 20, of Columbus.

The four had driven into Louisville and were returning to the fort after midnight, still accompanied by Bean. Suddenly, Ray quoted young Bentz as saying, Bean drew a knife, forced Bentz and Miss Vore from the car, told Mrs. Bentz to stay in, and drove off at high speed.

Report Car Was Speeding.

Bentz notified state police, who blockaded the highways, but before the fugitive car could be found it crashed into another auto carrying Meyers and three other persons. Meyers, Mrs. Bentz, and Bean were killed and the others seriously hurt.

Patrolman Ray said the car driven by Bean was traveling at a high rate of speed on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred.

CAMACHO ORDERS TEACHERS OUT OF MEXICAN POLITICS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21 (AP).—President Manuel Avila Camacho has bluntly ordered Mexico's 80,000 school teachers to abandon all political activity on Sept. 30 and thereafter to dedicate themselves exclusively to teaching.

Conservative factions have accused some teachers of greater devotion to communist policies than education. The communist party itself has said that its greatest strength among government employés lay in the education ministry.

Kills Her, Then Self 9 Hours After Wedding

Death wrote a tragic end last night to the elopement of an attractive young divorcée when, less than nine hours after her marriage, a jilted suitor killed her with a bullet fired thru a window, and then took his own life.

The victims were Mrs. Catherine Sherman, 26 years old, 1842 Armitage avenue—until her marriage yesterday known as Kay Weber—and Ronald Toft, 35, of 3845 North St. Louis avenue. The shooting occurred at her basement apartment in the presence of her husband, Lee Sherman, 24; her mother, her sister, and her father-in-law.

Both Sought Her Affections.

Behind the double killing lay a dramatic love story in which Toft, a packing house employé, and his younger rival, Sherman, a mail order house worker, had both sought the affections of the divorcée. For nearly five months Toft had courted her; she was, in his own words, his "whole life."

For nearly 10 months Sherman had also been courting her. He won, but Toft kept up his fight until the last minute. At 3 a. m. yesterday he went to Sherman's home at 3828 North Clark street, and according to Sherman's father, Raymond Sherman, protested against the intended marriage. The elder Sherman also said Toft made threats against young Sherman and the girl.

A few hours later Sherman, his son and Mrs. Weber started out for Dubuque, Ia., where, at 11 a. m., the latter two were married. They started back for Chicago at noon.

Rescued from Gas Filled Flat.

While they were en route, Toft entered the bride's apartment in Armitage avenue, wrote a farewell note which he later tore up, and turned on the gas. Firemen called by neighbors rescued him before he became unconscious. He was taken to Shakespeare avenue station.

His mother, Mrs. Carl Karrasch, was notified. Also notified were Mrs. Sherman's relatives—her mother, Mrs. Mary Golak, 4874 Homer street; her sister, Mrs. Josephine Ciepiela, 1430 Superior street, and the latter's husband, Edward. Police released Toft to Ciepiela.

All went to the Armitage avenue apartment. Meanwhile, the newlyweds had returned and were at the Sherman home in North Clark street. They were told over the telephone of Toft's apparent attempt at suicide and asked whether they would come over to see him at the Armitage avenue apartment. They drove to the apartment with Sherman's father. That was at 6:30 p. m.

Asks for Private Talk.

Mrs. Sherman told Toft of her marriage. He asked to talk with her privately in the kitchen. After five minutes Mrs. Sherman asked her husband to join them. What occurred there was told later by him to Lieut. Joseph Murrin.

"My wife told me that Toft wanted to see our marriage certificate," said Sherman. "She asked me if I had it with me. I said I did, and she asked me to show it to Toft.

"He looked at it, and sort of smiled to himself. Then he handed it back to me, shook hands with us, and wished us luck."

Convinced now that he had lost, Toft left. That was at 6:45 p. m. Ciepiela drove Toft's mother, Mrs. Karrasch, home, leaving in the apartment the newlyweds, the elder Sherman, Mrs. Golak, and Mrs. Ciepiela.

Hides Outside Dining Room.

Shortly after 7 p. m., according to police, Toft returned. It was dusk. He concealed himself in an areaway outside an open window looking into the dining room of the basement flat. Under his coat he carried a loaded .22 caliber target rifle.

A few minutes later Mrs. Sherman stepped up to a buffet in the dining room. There was a shot. She fell to the floor, dead, a bullet in her head. There was a second shot a few seconds later. Toft lay dead on the ground outside the window.

MOSLEMS FEAR EGYPT AIR RAIDS IN HOLY MONTH

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 21 (AP).—The Moslem year's ninth moon appeared over Egypt this evening, signaling the start of the holy month of Ramadan. Ceremonies welcoming the moon were performed with heavy hearts, for the thought uppermost in Egyptian minds was how many air raids might be carried out in its light.

In accordance with custom, two Moslems testified to the high court that they had seen the moon and Ramadan was proclaimed open. Because of the blackout mosques were not illuminated.

For the next 28 days the Moslems will eat and drink nothing during the day but will feast after sundown.

CAPTURE YOUNG SLAYER AFTER ROOFTOP CHASE

A cunning killer who had twice escaped police traps amid a hail of bullets was captured yesterday when 10 radio police squads surrounded the Union park district and closed in on him. Fleeing catlike over rooftops, the killer finally dropped thru a skylight and took refuge in a pitch black basement at 1564 Lake street.

Policemen Martin Reidy of the Des Plaines street station and James Madden of the Warren avenue station plunged into the darkness after him, altho they suspected he was armed, and captured him.

The prisoner is Willie Norvell, 18 years old, colored, of 1958 Hubbard street. Police said he confessed that he and two companions, already in custody, beat and tortured Mitchell Hetman to death Aug. 17 in the Anton Szumny & Sons furniture factory at 2130 Fulton street, where Hetman was a watchman.

Bullets Fail to Halt Him.

Norvell was sighted by Sergt. Joseph Ruane and a squad from the Des Plaines street station at Lake and Ada streets Saturday night. The squad tried to close in on him, but Norvell fled. The policemen fired in an unsuccessful attempt to halt him.

About 11 a. m. yesterday Detectives Milford Nygren, John Murphy, and Joseph Gordon of the Warren avenue station saw Norvell again at Ogden avenue and Randolph street, at the northeast entrance of Union park. He was limping from a bullet wound in his left leg, suffered a week ago when he escaped the first police trap. Nygren and Murphy leaped from their car to pursue him. Gordon began calling for more squads on his FM radio.

This is the course the chase took:

1. As Nygren and Murphy started after Norvell he darted south across a truck parking lot. Then he scurried in and out among the trucks, doubling back north, and ran into the park, where he hid in shrubbery until Nygren and Murphy had passed.

Climbs to Garage Roof.

2. As additional squads raced into the district Norvell moved from the shrubbery to a garage at 1546 Lake street, more than a block away. The roof of the garage is rounded, making the building about one and one-half stories in height.

3. Norvell shinnied up a telephone pole, close to the side of the building, and reached the top of the domed roof just as several police squads drove up.

4. The fugitive ran 50 feet across the roof to a three story building adjoining. The roof of the building is approximately one and one-half stories above the rounded roof on which he was standing.

Side of Building Is Jagged.

5. The side of this building at that point is jagged and irregular, the scars left from an old outer chimney which had been removed. The scars provided a ladder which Norvell climbed to the third floor roof.

6. A stairway led from the roof to the third floor level. Norvell ran down the stairs, and tried to force open the screen door of the flat of a Negro family named Rowlette. A young boy stood at the door. "Let me in quick," demanded Norvell. "Get away from here," ordered the boy.

7. Norvell then scurried down the stairs to the second floor and went to the rear porch. He climbed to the railing and leaped four feet across a court to the roof of the neighboring building at 1564 Lake street, occupied by Lev Brothers, hay and grain dealers. This roof was slighly below the level of the second floor porch from which he jumped.

Drops Thru Skylight.

8. Norvell then battered in two windows of a skylight, and dropped thru the opening. He landed on a pile of baled hay. He then ran downstairs into the basement. Detectives Madden and Reidy, who had duplicated much of Norvell's flight, followed him into the basement and arrested him.

At the Warren avenue station Norvell confessed his share in the Hetman murder to Acting Capt. Walter McGloon and Lieut. LeRoy Steffenz. His story confirmed the admissions made several days ago by his brother, James, 15, and Edgar Shepherd, also 15 and colored, who participated in the crime.

Norvell said he received the leg wound last Sunday after Capt. McGloon and his men had almost trapped him in his room on the third floor at 1958 Hubbard street.

AFL PRESIDENT REQUESTS QUIZ IN LAUNDRY UNION

Olander to Probe Charges Against Donovan.

Victor Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, disclosed yesterday he had been asked by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to investigate the affairs of the local 46 of the Laundry Workers International, a Chicago union, whose rank and file are in revolt.

William J. Donovan, boss of the laundry workers, is being sued for an accounting of an estimated $1,100,000 in union funds and his ouster is sought. The suit calls Donovan, who was questioned in the unsolved bat slaying of an independent laundry driver in 1938, "a hoodlum and a labor racketeer." Since the suit was filed federal authorities have seized the union's books.

Agrees to Comply with Request.

Olander said he will comply with Green's request, but has as yet mapped no plan of action. He said that both John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and he were ready to help any union troubled by gangster or hoodlum influence.

At a meeting of the Chicago federation yesterday Daniel McNamara of the Street Car Men's union was named to a vacancy on the executive board. He succeeds Charles Wills, father-in-law of Max Caldwell, former clerks' union boss. Wills was ousted recently.

McNamara, who had the backing of Fitzpatrick, received 190 votes to 68 for Charles Watters of the painters' union. A field of six candidates was narrowed to two thru Fitzpatrick's influence.

Delegates to the meeting also announced their determination to fight any encroachment by unions of the rival Congress of Industrial Organizations and to purge AFL ranks of communists.

AFL Locals to Aid Each Other.

It was decided that in any battle between an AFL and CIO union in Chicago or Illinois all other AFL locals will aid the brother local in trouble. It was also decided to aid Detroit locals of the AFL, where the CIO has been conducting active raiding in recent months.

The Illinois Federation of Labor will present to Gov. Green today a request that he set aside a week in the early future to be known as Military Welfare week. It would be done in the interests of the comfort, morale, and happiness of men in the armed forces of the United States.

San Salvador's Last War Veteran of 1863 Dies at 111

The map shows his flight from the time he was first seen by police in park at Ogden avenue and Randolph street (1). He ran and hid in bushes (2), then sprinted to telephone pole in alley (3). He scampered up walls and across roof to building where he was trapped (4).

KILLER OF 4 GOES ON TRIAL TODAY; CALLS IT A SHOW

Defiant and surly, the 19 year old slayer who is a parolee from the Illinois State Training School for Boys, was led into a visiting room at the County jail yesterday. The names of his victims were recounted:

Park Policeman Charles J. Speaker, 58, of 6228 Drexel avenue, married and the father of two children, who interrupted a holdup Sawicki was committing in Jackson park.

John J. Miller, 19, of 5542 West 63d place, who fought back when the killer tried to rob him in Sherman park at 55th and Elizabeth streets.

Charles Kwasinski, 17, a training schoolmate of Sawicki's who refused to help him commit another robbery.

Wouldn't Shoot Officer.

"If you had it to do over again, would you kill them?" he was asked.

"I wouldn't shoot the cop, I guess," he replied. He puffed at a cigaret. "He just got in the way."

What about Miller?

Kwaskinski?

And Allain?

"The old guy was a 'squealer.' It was part on account of him I was sent back to St. Charles [the training school near St. Charles]. He was no good—I just didn't like him on general principles."

But it wasn't about his victims that Sawicki enjoyed talking. It was the trial.

"Tomorrow's the big day," he told a reporter. "Think there'll be a crowd at the trial?"

He was assured that the courtroom of Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court will probably be filled.

"I hope so," he said. "Should be a good show."

None of Sawicki's acquaintances have been to see him since he was arrested after the killings, he said. He never has known his relatives and was a foundling.

When he was at the training school he was regarded as an excellent inmate. He was freed in February, 1940.

Not Unusual to Kill, He Says.

Sawicki was asked why he suddenly indulged in the killing rampage; what inspired the first one?

"I stole a gun about a month before," he replied. "Every day, I practiced. Soon as I got so I could hit the target every time, I started out to settle my grudge with Allain.

Sawicki said he had no guess to make, nor did he care, whether he will go to prison or the electric chair.

harbors. We as a government and with government funds have built ships and furnished war materials for belligerents. We have transferred 50 destroyers and other naval units to a belligerent nation. We have committed innumerable unneutral acts."

Professor Elliott said he was surprised to find that "Congressman Fish still harps on the neutrality act. I hoped that he might be decently ashamed of the delusion which he has tried for years to foist on the American people—that by tying our hands we could prevent war and escape all the consequences of a world turned against us. Hitler knows that we have chosen sides, if Congressman Fish does not. It will be Hitler's vote, not that of Congressman Fish, that decides the issue of war."

Cromwell Flouts Constitution.

"Because the American people are accustomed to determine vital policies by casting their votes, those of the 'do-nothing' school would like you to believe that you, or your representatives in congress, can vote for war or peace," he said. "But don't be fooled. Mr. Hitler's vote is the only vote that counts in that election. We will have no more choice in the matter than had the 18 subjugated nations of Europe."

There is no support in law, custom or justice, Pinchot said, for President Roosevelt's claim that freedom of the seas entitles him to send ships loaded with munitions of war to one belligerent without molestation by the ships of other belligerents. "Freedom of the seas," he said, 'is a smokescreen behind which one man government is scrapping our constitution and taking from congress its rights to declare war. The issue is not freedom of the seas, but whether one man shall take 130 million people to war against their will."

PRIORITIES DELAY SHERIFFS' GUNS, RADIO EQUIPMENT

The Illinois Sheriffs' association, thru its executive committee, has adopted a resolution requesting Leon Henderson, director of the division of civilian supply of the Office of Production Management, to make it possible for its members to obtain needed weapons and radio equipment. This action was announced yesterday by Sheriff Elmer J. Hoffman of Du Page county, secretary treasurer of the association.

Sheriff Hoffman said that he and Sheriff Michael Welter of La Salle county ordered two Reising machine guns five months ago. These weapons arrived only two days ago, he said.

Du Page county decided months ago to change its police radio system from AM to FM, taking advantage of the new method eliminating static and electrical storm interruptions. Twelve FM receivers and six FM transmitters were ordered two months ago and only one of each was received Thursday, he said.

"Quite a few other sheriffs have ordered the submachine guns," he declared. "Many of the counties are either acquiring radio equipment for the first time or replacing the old with FM equipment. Among them are La Salle, Champaign, De Kalb, Tazewell, St. Clair, Kendall, and Ogle counties."

HOOSIERS LASH PRO-WAR TALK OF F. D. R.'S AID

Walker Says 'War Is Upon Us.'

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 21 [Special].—Prominent New Dealers who came to Indiana and took part in spreading war fever at the meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editorial association at French Lick, Ind., were on their way back to Washington tonight, leaving in their wake protests by noninterventionist Hoosiers.

Heading the caravan was Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, who declared in an address at a banquet of the Democratic editors last night that "the war is upon us." Other visitors were Paul V. McNutt, federal social security administrator and Wayne Coy, special secretary to President Roosevelt, Gov. Keen Johnson of Kentucky, and Thomas Underwood, national committeeman from Kentucky.

Necessity for U. S. Defense.

In addressing the editorial association Postmaster General Walker declared:

"We do not wish war, but we know that the war is upon us thru the necessity for defense. We did not go out to meet it, but, like a hurricane, it has swept over the sea, challenging our freedom, jeopardizing our nation and soon our individual lives. We are poised on no arbitrary adventure; we are aligned by no artificial choice.

"But we stand embattled before an insane and fratricidal tyranny that strikes with the lawlessness of a maniac to enslave the world."

See Censorship of Press.

After declaring that the nation's press "has attained unparalleled distinction as the conscientious expression of free men," Walker struck a note which was interpreted by some as a forewarning of government censorship when he asserted:

"But the press is not charged equally with fixing national policy. That is the obligation of the government and in a singular manner of the President of the United States. In the arena of action rather than of argument, his moves are decisive for us all. His tactics are ours—by our choice, by our election, and by virtue of our democracy which consents to authoritative action without suppressing individual argument."

William Hargraves, editor of the Rockville Republican and prominent Republican leader in the state said:

"Postmaster General Walker's speech at French Lick last night is a clear indication that the administration in Washington is beginning to show its true colors for what it has been doing undercover for many months."

Luke Warm to the War.

Edwin V. O'Neill, publisher of the Hagerstown Opponent, commented:

"The people of Indiana are very lukewarm to the war despite all of the administration's efforts, such as shown by Walker's speech last night, to make them otherwise. The majority of the people in Indiana have demonstrated on numerous occasions that they do not want to become involved in any foreign war.

All except one Indiana's 12 congressmen voted against the recent draft extension legislation, and I feel they were reflecting the true sentiment of the people."

William D. Murray, editor and publisher of the Bicknell News, said:

"The statement made to the annual meeting of Democratic editors indicates first of all a startling lack of agreement among the President and his advisers as to just where our nation is now in relation to the world conflict.

"Editors everywhere are doing their patriotic best to uphold the necessary defense actions of our government. But when we see such disagreement among confidential advisers to our government and members of the President's cabinet, it cannot help but raise the question as to where we do stand and just what our government does expect of us.

"Most of the statements which have been credited to leaders of government thought in Washington have assured us, until Mr. Walker spoke in French Lick, that we are not and will not be in this conflict."

Pledge Support of Policies.

Before Walker's speech last night the Editorial association approved, without discussion on the floor, a resolution pledging unqualified support to the Roosevelt administration's war policies and indorsing the administration of Gov. Henry F. Schricker, only Democrat to be elected to Indiana state office last year. By failing to commend, as is usual, the record of the party's members in congress, the resolution was regarded as a snub of Indiana's Democratic Senator Frederick Van Nuys and three of Indiana's four Democratic congressmen, who have opposed the administration war policies. The three congressmen are Louis Ludlow of Indianapolis, John W. Boehne of Evansville, and William T. Schulte, all reëlected in 1940.

Van Nuys, who did not attend the editors' meeting and who refused to comment on the association's action, consistently has opposed the administration's interventionist policies and described the President's recent "shoot on sight" speech as "inflammatory, terrifying, and tantamount to an unofficial declaration of war."

Ludlow Declines Comment.

Ludlow, who also refused in Washington to discuss the association's resolutions, has long been an advocate of a national referendum before entry of the United States into any war. Neither Boehne nor Schulte could be reached for comment.

Coy, who was secretary of McNutt when the latter was governor of Indiana, was the center of attention of job seekers, who gave only brief notice to McNutt or even to Gov. Schricker, also present at the meeting. McNutt reportedly now is regarded by Indiana Democrats as beneath Coy on the White House ladder.

Chaplin Talks

PAULETTE GODDARD.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 21 [Special].—Charles Chaplin last night finally admitted that he and Paulette Goddard are married. The marital status of the film couple has been discussed in public print so long that it was beginning to wear, but Chaplin and Paulette, seated in a night club, cleared up the mystery.

"There's really been no mystery to it," said Mrs. Chaplin. "We've just never talked about our private lives in public."

"I don't think the date of our marriage is of any importance," smiled Chaplin. "Nor the place."

SENATE INQUIRY ON PROPAGANDA NEAR SHOWDOWN

Controversy on Costs Up to Audit Committee.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 (AP).—Controversy within the senate over the investigation of the movies approached a step nearer a showdown today when Chairman D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] signed vouchers for $552.04 in expenditures by the senate interstate commerce subcommittee inquiring into alleged war propaganda.

Clark said the vouchers would be submitted to the senate audit and control committee, headed by Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.]. Lucas announced yesterday that he would not approve any expenditures until he was informed how long the inquiry was going to be carried on and how much would be spent.

Considers Limit of $250.

Lucas also said he might propose that the senate limit to $250 the amount a committee may spend on hearings not expressly authorized by the senate. If this were done, the movie investigation would have to be suspended unless the senate authorized its continuance.

Wendell L. Willkie, attorney for motion picture producers, has charged that the committee's investigation is illegal since it has not been approved by the senate. The investigation is in the form of hearings on a resolution by Senators Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] and Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.]—not yet considered by the senate—calling for just such an inquiry as the committee is making.

Schenck Next Witness.

But Chairman Clark, declaring there were many instances in which senate committees had made investigations under similar circumstances, said the inquiry would go on again Tuesday with Nicholas Schenck, motion picture producer, as the chief witness.

Clark said he would continue to submit vouchers for expenditures, and expressed belief that the senate would approve their payment if the audit committee declined to make funds available.

The two vouchers thus far signed call for payment of $3 and expenses to Jimmy Fidler and George Fisher, Hollywood commentators, who testified last week.

Fidler turned in a bill for $287.54, which included airplane transportation from California to Washington and return. Fisher's bill was $264.50.

Cigaret in Bed Is Fatal to Ricardo Cortez's Ex-Wife

Santa Ana, Cal., Sept. 21 (AP).—Mrs. Christine Conniff Cortez, divorced wife of Screen Actor Ricardo Cortez, died today of burns suffered early yesterday when she fell asleep in bed with a lighted cigaret. The tragedy occurred at a seashore cottage at Laguna Beach. Cortez came here from Hollywood upon being informed of the accident.

BURGLARS ENTER MARSHALL HIGH.

Burglars broke into Marshall High school Saturday night, then broke into the principal's office and into 15 classrooms, but apparently obtained little loot, Benjamin Huston, janitor of the school, reported yesterday to police.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 21 (AP).—Playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the dance orchestra halted a brief but spirited fisticuff in a night club early today involving Actor Errol Flynn, Jimmie Fidler, movie writer, and the latter's wife, Bobbie.

When the national anthem began, all three stood at attention and afterward were separated by friends. The crowd cheered.

"I didn't mind Mrs. Fidler jabbing me with the fork," said Flynn, "but she made the very grave social error of using the wrong fork." Mrs. Fidler denied she used any fork.

Fidler recently has been criticized by some studios for his attacks upon certain phases of the movie industry.

"Fidler has told one too many lies about the motion picture business," Flynn told interviewers. "That's why I went up to his table and told him what I thought about him."

Fidler said he was struck twice by the actor.

IMPEACH KNOX, STIMSON, URGES PHIL LA FOLLETTE

Denver, Colo., Sept. 21 (AP).—Philip La Follette, former Wisconsin governor, proposes the impeachment of Secretaries Knox and Stimson, saying that would be the simplest means of keeping the United States out of the war.

La Follette, speaking at an America First committee rally last night, declared that impeachment charges against the two should be that they are seeking to violate the constitutional guarantee that the nation cannot be taken into armed conflict except by a vote of congress.

"If this nation," he said, "is taken into war by some smart alecky program of aid short of war, by trickery, I give warning that those like me, who plead for tolerance, will be as straws in the wind.

"If the constitutional provision that congress must decide whether this nation fights is set aside now, then there can come a time when the constitutional guarantees of free speech and religious liberty can be set aside."

Turkish Consul General in N. Y. Strangles Himself

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—Mehmet Ali Yukselen, Turkish consul general in New York, strangled himself today with a necktie in the consulate residence at 50 Central Park West, police reported. A note in Turkish was found together with $401 which he directed be used for his burial. Dr. Thomas S. Gonzales, chief medical examiner, said the consul, who was 51 years old, had been suffering with a heart ailment and that the death clearly was suicide.

BOYS DROWN IN STORM SEWER.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 21 (AP).—Two 9 year old boys were found drowned today in a storm sewer excavation here, twelve hours after their parents had reported them missing. They were Lloyd Grandstaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Grandstaff, and Arthur Wells, Negro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wells.

CALL BULGARIAN WAR MOVE NAZI THRUST AT TURKS

London Sees Dardanelles Attack if Talk Fails.

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—Qualified London observers, studying Bulgaria's declaration yesterday of a state of emergency, termed it flatly tonight a forerunner of a new German diplomatic offensive against Turkey with attack on the Dardanelles to follow shortly if persuasion fails.

Control over the whole Turkish held gateway from the Mediterranean into the Black sea—the Dardanelles, Sea of Marmara, and Bosporus—was seen as necessary to Adolf Hitler's plan of dominating the Black sea area, these sources said.

Accompanying or subsequent steps, they said, would necessarily be conquest of Odessa and Sevastopol and destruction of Russia's Black sea fleet.

Caucasus Oil Main Goal.

Behind these immediate objectives, it was said, is Hitler's major goal—the rich Caucasian oil fields.

Some quarters said that the Germans intended to capitalize on the general antipathy of the Bulgars toward the Turks. The Germans and King Boris of Bulgaria, it was explained, already have found that a large proportion of the Bulgarians are pro-Russian and as a result it has been necessary, according to reports here, to herd thousands of them into concentration camps to prevent open anti-Nazi outbreaks.

Meanwhile there were thinly veiled, unofficial warnings to Turkey that Britain and her allies [Turkey herself is a nonbelligerent ally] would be able to give little aid if the Germans and Bulgars struck suddenly unless the Turks opened their frontiers to admit helping armies now.

Sea Attack Held "Obvious."

The Sunday Observer's diplomatic correspondent wrote: "It is known and is even obvious that the Bulgar-German plan stops short at the straits. There is no likelihood of an attempted land drive at the Caucasus thru the difficult country of Anatolia [i. e., Turkey in Asia Minor]. The German plan is for an attack by sea from Crimean, Bulgarian, and Turkish bases.

"Concentration of allied forces on the Syrian, Iraqi, and Iranian frontiers of Turkey is therefore of little importance unless the Turkish government in time invites allied help so that those forces can be transported to the Thracian [European] frontier where the issue obviously will be decided."

But there is some dissent from the general belief that Bulgarian moves betoken impending invasion of Turkey. One observer declared that Hitler might easily be feeding such reports in order to spread disquiet in the middle east and cause Britain to concentrate forces near Turkey, thus forestalling the threat of a British offensive against axis-held Libya in Noth Africa this fall.

King Boris Back in Sofia.

SOFIA, Bulgaria [via Berlin], Sept. 21 (AP).—King Boris returned to Sofia today after several days inspecting Bulgarian army maneuvers. The new army class is the largest in Bulgaria's history.

[Sinking of two Bulgarian cargo vessels in the Black sea was reported in other dispatches. One was the Shipka, reportedly torpedoed between Varna, Bulgaria, and Balcik, Rumania. The other was the Rodina, reputedly destroyed by internal blasts Saturday en route to Istanbul, Turkey. Ankara dispatches Saturday said an unidentified Bulgarian vessel had been sunk by a mine or a submarine and it might have been one of these.]

10 Killed, 56 Hurt as Bus Falls 300 Feet Into Ravine

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Sept. 21 (AP).—Ten persons were killed and 56 injured today when a bus plunged into a 300 foot ravine here.

German Move Against Turkey Is Foreseen

Germany is expected by British observers to move against Turkey if diplomatic developments fail to persuade that nation to throw in its lot with the axis. Nazi control of a route thru the Dardanelles to the Black sea is believed to be essential to a German effort against the Caucasian oil fields.

FATE OF TURKISH NEUTRALITY AT STAKE IN BERLIN

Ankara Observers Say Talks in Progress.

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 20 [Delayed] (AP).—The question of whether Turkey will be permitted to pursue her present neutral course or whether an attempt will be made to force her definitely to choose sides was declared today by well informed circles to be under discussion in Berlin. A decision is likely to become evident in a few days.

Both Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Ankara, and Hans Rhode, German military attaché here, now are in Berlin for what informants describe as a conference to determine whether Germany's right flank in southeastern Europe is adequately protected by the present forces in Bulgaria or whether Turkey will be asked to give more definite guarantees.

What guarantees Germany could ask or expect are highly problematical. But it is evident that Turkey's position with relation to the spreading war is becoming increasingly difficult with every mile that the Germans approach nearer the Caucasus.

Informed circles here said there were two German viewpoints regarding Turkey.

Von Papen, on one side, was described as insisting that Turkey never would participate in or permit aggressive action against Europe across her territory, and for that reason Germany's southern flank was secure.

A conflicting viewpoint, it was said, particularly in army circles, was that no chances should be taken to the south and the German flank must be guarded. Those holding this opinion were said to favor not only strong guarding of the flank by Bulgarian forces, but insistence that Turkey permit German forces to establish themselves along the Turkish coast of the Black sea.

Diplomatic sources expected that the decision on whether Von Papen would return to Turkey would indicate which of these schools of thought was uppermost in Berlin.

One diplomat said if Von Papen returns it will mean that Turkey will not be pressed for military guarantees beyong the nonaggression assurance contained in a pact Turkey and Germany signed three months ago.

Observers here regarded it as obvious that if the German army reaches the Caucasus and swings southward toward Iran, Turkey would be caught in the middle.

Some of these sources regarded it unlikely that Germany would undertake such an operation leaving at the flank of her forces 2,000,000 uncommitted Turkish soldiers.

Lift Ban on Cheese Dishes in Britain; U.S. Help Grows

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A ban which has prevented Britons from obtaining cheese dishes in restaurants since last May was lifted today. This concession was said to be due to increased imports from the United States and the dominions. The butter ration also is likely to be increased soon.

HEAR NAZIS ASK BULGARIANS TO PATROL FRANCE

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 21 (AP).—A report circulated here today that Germany had asked Bulgaria to supply 200,000 soldiers to take over the policing of France to free German troops for the Russian campaign.

There was talk here weeks ago that Italians might be called upon to police France but even Germans here scouted the idea. Appearance of Italian troops of occupation in France would bring on sure rebellion, they said.

Heavy losses on the Russian front were causing the German search for fresh reserves, in the opinion of those spreading the report.

KIEV ABANDONED TO NAZI TROOPS, MOSCOW ADMITS

Claims 32 Towns Retaken on Central Front.

MOSCOW, Sept. 22 [Monday] (AP).—The abandonment of Kiev, bitterly defended capital of the Ukraine and Russia's third largest city, was acknowledged officially by the Russians today.

Known as "the mother of the Russias," this city of 846,000 population was the first major prize to fall to the Germans in three months of fighting.

Today's early morning communique, devoting one sentence to the retreat from the Ukraninian city, said only:

The Germans had announced Kiev's capture last Friday thru a "perfect example of blitzkrieg" embodying all the weapons in the Nazi arsenal, but as late as yesterday the Russians said a life and death struggle still was being waged there.

Recapture 32 Villages.

Offsetting somewhat the loss of this important city were reports that the Red army had recaptured 32 villages and driven the Germans from a strongly fortified line in a central front counterattack and were inflicting enormous losses upon Germans blasting at Leningrad.

Supporting the German ground troops battering soviet bunkers [field forts] before Leningrad were German dive-bombers which were declared striking "with such ferocity it seems the earth itself will split."

The fury of the Nazi air force assaults was emphasized by the soviet communique which told of the destruction of 60 German planes in Saturday's fighting alone. The Russians admitted the loss of 24 of their craft that day.

In the Gulf of Finland the soviet information bureau reported the Finnish coastal defense warship Ilmarinen, 3,900 tons, struck mines during an attack and sank.

Fall Back to Defend Kharkov.

In abandoning Kiev, Marshal Semeon Budenny's Ukrainian armies apparently fell back to new positions to reorganize for a defense against an apparent thrust against Kharkov, the greatest city of the rich Donetz area.

[A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, told of reports of an imminent—if not already effected—replacement of Marshal Budenny as commander-in-chief of the southern sector by Colonel General Ivan S. Konev, whose strategy is credited with getting started the general counter-offensive on the central sector.]

The retreat from Kiev was carried out in accordance with the soviet plan of yielding ground if necessary to keep the Red army intact. The withdrawal was made necessary after the Germans crossed the Dnieper river to the north.

Many Troops Believed Saved.

The loss of Kiev was a serious one, for besides being the capital of the Ukraine, it was an important industrial city and the administrative center for the whole of southwestern Russia.

As an example of the terrific losses sustained by the Germans along the entire Arctic-to-Black sea front, the soviet communique quoted German prisoners as saying the 30th German infantry division and an anti-aircraft division operating in the Leningrad area had lost nearly 50 per cent of their men.

The story was the same, the Russians said, at Kiev and Odessa and on the central front, where the Germans were declared smashed by Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's counter-attacking warriors.

[A Moscow radio broadcast heard in New York said Marshal Timoshenko's central front army had smashed the Germans back 12 more miles toward Nazi-held Smolensk on the road to Moscow.]

NAZIS PINCH OFF 15,500 SQ. MILES TO CAPTURE KIEV

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—With the capture of Kiev by what they said was the army's "most daring operation," German sources declared 15,500 square miles of the Ukraine had been pinched off.

This pocket was said to be marked by Kiev in the west, Konotop, 130 miles away, in the north, and Kremenchug, 140 miles from the Ukraine capital, in the south.

Developments Along Entire Front

ITALY HALTS GEM TRAFFIC; RATIONS SHOES, CLOTHING

First Curb on Apparel Starts Oct. 1.

ROME, Sept. 21 (AP).—The government today forbade travelers to take valuable jewelry out of Italy without special permission and announced that rationing of shoes and clothing would begin Oct. 1 for the first time since the war began.

The announcement indicated each authorization for removal of jewelry from Italy would be limited to an amount in keeping with the financial status of the individual traveler and to articles of jewelry shown to have been brought into Italy by him before the regulation became effective.

A previous decree had prohibited the sale and purchase of precious metals, stones, and jewelry.

Various foodstuffs have been rationed in Italy but the issuance of cards for obtaining shoes and clothing was news.

The new regulations followed shortly after Premier Mussolini's annual meeting with his provincial prefects.

The Rome radio said Mussolini concentrated his attention on the problem of subsidies to families of men under arms, conditions among the working classes, the food situation, and various provincial questions.

GERMANS CLAIM VICTORIES ON TWO FLANKS OF FRONT

neck of the Crimean peninsula to the Sea of Azov, notheastern arm of the Black sea, was taken here as an indication that the whole Crimean peninsula was about to fall into Nazi hands.

Prisoners Total 2,000,000.

East of Kiev, where the roll of captured brought the number of Russian prisoners reported in German hands close to the 2,000,000 mark, tanks were leading the eastward sweep while followup forces closed tighter around encircled Red forces, the Germans declared.

A special war bulletin disclosed that the armored shock force was commanded by two of the reich's most resourceful soldiers, Colonel Generals Heinz Guderian and Ewald von Kleist, under direction of Field Marshal General Walter von Reichenau, who commanded the Nazi drive on Dunkirk.

The high command declared "destruction of the remaining forces of the encircled enemy [in the pocket east of Kiev] is in full swing. Additional large numbers of prisoners and quantities of booty are expectable."

With characteristic reserve the high command kept secret the point at which its advance troops reached the Azov shore, but it was clear they had pushed across just north of the peninsula from Nikolaev and Kherson.

An infantry division was credited with making possible the advance by forcing a crossing of the lower Dnieper at Berislav, just northeast of Kherson, and holding a bridgehead against hard soviet counterattacks.

Replacements for Odessa.

The German air force was reported to have sunk a Russian destroyer, a 2,000 ton transport, a patrol boat, a gunboat, and three merchant ships totaling 10,000 tons in the Black sea west of the Crimea, and news dispatches said a 4,000 ton transport was damaged badly—possibly destroyed—south of Odessa.

A German war correspondent wrote: "War prisoners say each night transports with troops from Black sea ports arrive in Odessa and further that all male inhabitants of the city, with the exception of children and the aged, are put into uniform and trained in 14 day courses."

News dispatches from the northern flank said strong soviet counterattacks had been launched against Germans holding a hill southeast of Lake Ilmen, but that the Germans destroyed 18 Russian tanks and held their ground.

DOGFIGHTS OVER ENGLISH CHANNEL DOWN 37 PLANES

Germans Lash Back After British Mass Raids.

LONDON, Sept. 22 [Monday] (AP).—The Germans, massing new air strength in the west to meet the RAF's growing armada, put up the stiffest opposition encountered in weeks during mass British raids upon northern France yesterday.

Stung into action by the ever-growing RAF assaults, the Nazi air force also hurled dive bombers against the southeast coast last night and sent other raiders roaring on the Thames estuary.

The air ministry, telling of the increasing Nazi opposition, said numerous dogfights broke out during the RAF's Sunday attacks and that 24 German craft were destroyed to 13 British fighters lost.

No British Bomber Lost.

It made a point of the fact that not a single British bomber was lost in the day's attacks which rivaled anything yet turned loose by daylight against the Nazi-held coast.

The RAF bombers started fires at a power station at Gosnay, near Bethune, and ranged as far inland as Lille, the big French industrial center, where rail facilities were bombed.

Last night's German raids followed Saturday night German attacks upon south and eastern England.

Racing eastward, wave after wave of RAF formations bombed their way again yesterday.

The attack was timed for the anniversary of the day a year ago when, outnumbered, fledglings of the British flying force carried their first mass offensive deep into Germany and along the Nazi held coast from the Baltic to Boulogne in triphammer blows at what were regarded as German preparations for invasion.

Plane Losses for a Week.

Churchgoers observed the anniversary with prayers for the RAF, and the flyers themselves, before taking off for the attack, participated in parades of commemoration at all air stations.

An official statement said the RAF destroyed 57 German planes last week—54 over the continent and 3 over Britain—and lost 46 planes, 14 bombers and the rest fighters.

[A British radio report said British anti-aircraft guns and defense patrols had destroyed more than 1,000 German planes from Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, with a loss of 300 British planes.]

Saturday night in bad weather objectives at Frankfurt, Berlin, and other places in northwest Germany were attacked. Many fires were reported started in Frankfurt and Berlin. Other aircraft attacked docks at Ostend, Belgium.

Downed in Channel Fights.

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—Thirty British Spitfires were reported by informed Germans today to have been shot down in fierce dog-fights over the English channel. Twenty were said to have been downed in one 40 minute battle. German losses were listed as a single plane.

In the west and in the Mediterranean area last week the British lost 93 planes to nine German craft.

The German air force, which had given Britain a respite during recent days of the terrific attack on the Russians, turned fiercely on her again Saturday night with attacks against Southampton and airports and harbor facilities of southern and eastern England.

Other formations, attacking the other island areas, were said by the communique to have sunk one 4,000 ton freighter and damaged another.

The communique asserted that "ineffective" British attempts to attack the channel region on Saturday cost the raiders 39 planes—35 shot down by German pursuit planes and four by marine artillery.

BRITISH, ITALIANS RAID BASES ON MEDITERRANEAN

ROME, Sept. 21 (AP).—Today's war communique reported an Italian bombing of air bases on Malta, a British air raid on Tripoli, Libya, and sporadic artillery and air activity in the Mediterranean and Libya. One British plane was shot down in the Bardia zone of Libya and Italian pilots machine gunned British motor vehicles southeast of Sollum, Egypt, the communique said.

Destroy Tent Encampment.

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—German battle planes in North Africa were reported officially to have destroyed a British tent ancampment at Tobruk, besieged Libyan town.

Clash Outside Tobruk.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 21 (AP).—The British middle east headquarters said today that at Tobruk several enemy parties moving outside the perimeter of defenses "were effectively engaged by machine gun and mortar fire."

U. S. PEOPLE NOT YET SET FOR WAR, BRITAIN WARNED

See Americans Deluded by Sea Action.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 21. — President Roosevelt's "shoot first" policy has "regained the ground lost since May 27 when he failed to follow thru his broadcast with action," Britons were told today by the periodical Time and Tide.

[On May 27 the President called for an all-out effort to beat Hitler. He threatened Italy and Japan as well with the armed might of the United States, and proclaimed an unlimited war emergency.]

Acceptance by the American public of the President's new policy, the periodical declares, "does not necessarily mean, however, that United States opinion is any readier for entry into the war and for the personal sacrifice that goes with it."

Americans "Are Deluded."

"Americans seem capable of segregating naval action from participation," it says, "and are deluded in the belief that when fighting a war at sea they can be in the war but not at war."

Harold Laski, writing in the Weekly Tribune, says American liberals "know that total war is revolution and they are disturbed at a war wherein the national government—above all Churchill himself—seems to think it can wage total war without having a revolution."

Cry for More Production.

Other newspapers and periodicals continue to harp on what they call the urgency of immediate and increased aid to Russia and the necessity of increased war production both here and in the United States if the so-called democratic front ever hopes to surpass Germany's production.

Without accomplishment of the latter, Hitler can never be defeated, it is contended. The statement of John D. Biggers, American lend-lease expert, that his country is unlikely to reach its production peak until 1943 has served in large measure to dispel hope of a rapid victory.

The New Statesman and Nation states that the aid given to Russia now — "several squadrons of the RAF, some supplies and more to come . . . and the common front created in the Caucasian area"—is not sufficient.

Military Blows Demanded.

It demands some sort of action, even military diversions in Norway, contending that the "complacency shown by many people in this country, and especially in official positions, is staggering."

The Sunday Times says:

"Let us look back at the course of this war. We had nine months of respite at its outset. We had another year's respite after the battle of Britain. We have had another three months of respite since Germany assailed Russia. Have these respites been adequately utilized? No! We and the United States are doing everything in our power now but we must confess that we both have been slow to approach full swing. If the balance is to be remedied in time, greater effort than any yet made is required by us both."

MARTIAL LAW PUT OVER ALL NORSE, SWEDEN HEARS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 21.—Lifting of the state civil siege at Oslo has not improved the situation in Norway. Mass arrests continue and two decrees of Reichscommissioner Josef Terboven have had the effect of extending a slightly modified form of martial law, including court martial, to the entire country.

The Oslo correspondent for the Stockholm Social Demokraten wired totday that theaters, restaurants, and cinemas are open and there is no curfew, but that the situation otherwise is worse because the whole country, not only Oslo and vicinity, are affected.

Some Pumpkins

"QUEEN" SUE RINKER.

A little Cinderella and a giant pumpkin boarded an American Airlines plane here yesterday for a trip to Washington, D. C., to meet President Roosevelt. She is Sue Rinker of Eureka, who won the trip and the title of Pumpkin Queen in a contest held recently as a forerunner of the coming annual pumpkin festival in Eureka, the "pumpkin center of the world." The festival will start Sept. 26 and close the following day. Miss Rinker took a 65 pound pumpkin to the President.

2D ARMY TO LOSE SOME OF TANKS IN WINDUP OF "WAR"

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Shreveport, La., Sept. 21.—One thousand officers of the 2d and 3d armies will be assembled at Leesville, La., Tuesday for a general critique of the interarmy games before resuming on Wednesday the next phase of the maneuvers, which will be a defense by the 2d army of the region of Shreveport, La. Troops and horses have been resting since Friday.

Some of the mechanical equipment of the 2d army will be transferred to the 3d army, for the final phase of the war games. This will serve to equalize the tank strength of the two armies. The tanks will be able to operate in open country this week instead of sticking to the highways.

The 2d army forces will be concentrated in the vicinity of Nacogdoches, Mansfield, and San Augustine, Tex., while the 3d army will be in the region of Deridder and Oakdale, La., and Kirbyville, Tex.

Intern 60 Reds Picked Up by Swedish Warships

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 21 (AP).—A Swedish communique said today that 60 Russian sailors had been picked up by Swedish warships and interned. The communique gave no details.

U-BOATS SANK 28 SHIPS IN ICELAND ZONE, NAZIS CLAIM

Tell of Raid Despite U. S. Navy Order.

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—The Germans disclosed for the first time today that mass submarine operations credited last week with sinking 28 merchantmen were in "Icelandic waters."

A recapitulation by DNB, official news agency, of German submarine successes was the first news in Berlin that the German raids were in the vicinity of Iceland, which is within the belligerent zone proclaimed by the German government.

When the attack was first announced a German spokesman said it was "Germany's answer of deeds instead of words" to President Roosevelt's order to attack axis warcraft in American defense waters.

250,300 Tons Reported Sunk.

The recapitulation covered sinkings announced during the week of Sept. 13 to 20 and gave losses in the period as 250,300 tons. An announcement Sept. 13 said 28 ships and 3 warships were sunk in the raid on the convoy.

U-boats were credited with six additional ships in the north Atlantic and speedboats were reported to have destroyed four ships off the British coast. The airforce was credited with accounting for 34,300 tons of shipping during the period.

British Damage 2 "E" Boats.

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—Two of Germany's fast little torpedo craft, which the British call "E" [for "enemy"] boats, were severely damaged last night, the admiralty reported, and others beaten off by naval escorts after they had attacked North sea convoys. Low visibility prevented the destruction of the "E" boats, it added, and there were no casualties or damage to any British ship.

Half of France's Ships Lost.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 21.—Official figures just published in Vichy show the French merchant marine has lost about half of its prewar tonnage since the beginning of the war. These estimates were presented:

Sunk during the war, 300,000 tons; sunk since the armistice, 57,000 tons; seized by the British, 598,000 tons; blocked in foreign ports, 400,000 tons, making a total of 1,355,000 tons.

The commercial fleet now in operation represents 1,516,000 tons. French shipyards are turning out new vessels.

DIES OF INJURIES IN FALL.

DIES AT STARVED ROCK PARK.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gloede of 4030 Glen View avenue died of a heart ailment yesterday while visiting Starved Rock state park near Ottawa. She was 75 years old.

IF YOU NEED $100 HERE'S WHAT TO DO

How to borrow cash quickly and simply and repay in monthly installments which fit your own income

CAN YOU make good use of $100? Investigate our loan plans today. Household Finance offers three simple ways for you to borrow up to $300. Your loan will be made the way which best suits your own situation.

1. Signature loans. No security needed. These loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples.

2. Auto loans. A loan on your car may best fit your needs.

3. Furniture loans. Here character and regular income are far more important than the value of your security. Many borrowers use this plan.

No endorsers needed

Whichever way you borrow, it is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get the loan you need simply, privately and speedily.

You may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments as shown in the table. Monthly installments of $9.77 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or as little as $6.99 a month for eighteen months will also repay a $100 loan.

Borrow for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2¼% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge a higher rate. It's good business to compare rates before you borrow.

If you need money, here's what to do. Come to Household. Or just phone and say you need a loan. We're here to serve you. Phone or visit us today without obligation.

FINNS AND NAZIS OIL PROPAGANDA SETUP TO HIT REDS

See Military Operations Approaching Goal.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 21.—Finland and Germany are waging a double-barreled offensive against bolshevism. The first, the military offensive, is believed here to be drawing to its close with military leaders confident the soviets' main armies will soon be destroyed. The second, the intensification of propaganda, apparently is getting under way.

Military leaders plan to establish a new demarcation line in the east. Whether it will be the A-A line, from Archangel in the north to Astrakhan, on the Caspian sea, and whether it will run west or east of Moscow are secrets of the German general staff. Staff officers say German and Finnish forces are being organized to administer the occupied territory and that any attempted enemy raids west of the line will be checked. With this situation achieved, the propaganda war will be expanded. It has been learned that peasants in the occupied territories have two main desires: They want to regain their land and, have the churches reopened.

Millions Exiled by Stalin.

Collectivized farming was introduced by Dictator Josef Stalin in 1928 and was enforced with bloodshed, for there were many uprisings. Investigation at the time revealed that more than 3,000,000 Russian Kulaks (peasants owning more than one horse) were exiled to the far north of Siberia. The Kulaks were persecuted because they lent their extra horses for a share in the crop. This primitive form of usury was abolished and the state became the usurer. Farm taxes in Russia under the new land policy became the world's highest.

It will be years before agriculture reaches anything like normal development in Russia because of the scarcity of horses. Under bolshevism the number of horses in Russia has been halved to 17,000,000 animals. When the war broke out communist agriculture was being powered by more than half a million tractors. These are now largely without fuel, for Russian oil production is disorganized.

Agriculture in Chaos.

During the early days of the German invasion little work was accomplished on the collectivized farms because in some cases the communists fled and in others they were murdered. The peasants said the harvest belonged to the state and they dare not touch it. They began to work only when they were informed that they would be abandoned to starvation if they did not gather the crops.

German and Danish experts have been sent in to bring order out of the agricultural chaos.

During the coming months Russia will be under a propaganda barrage. Just as revolutionaries led by Lenin and Trotsky captured the imagination of the Russians by the slogan of "Land to the peasants and factories to the workers," Germany and her allies will use the slogan to destroy the communist rule.

Finnish, German, Slovakian, and Bulgarian stations already are broadcasting several times daily in Russian and are said to have helped in many cases to overcome Russian resistance.

STROLL IN PARK; CAR IS ROBBED.
Alex Sutherland of Detroit reported to police yesterday that while he and his wife strolled thru Jackson park some one stole two suitcases, a purse, and two coats, valued at $112, from their parked car.

Music written for the harpsichord by John Sebastian Bach and Henry Purcell will be played at the first concert of the 1941 Chicago Festival of Ancient Music at the Goodman theater Oct. 5. The festival, which will continue on Oct. 12 and 19, will be directed by Gavin Williamson and Philip Manuel. Manuel and Williamson and Dorothy Lane will be at the harpsichords. Other members of the ensemble will be Leonard Sorkin and Oscar Chausow, violinists; Milton Preves, violist, and Dudley Powers, cellist.

VICHY TOLD NAZI GUNS WILL SPIKE 'REVOLT' IN PARIS

Petain Asks French to End Attacks on Soldiers.

BY DAVID DARRAH,
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 21.—Attention here today was focused on Paris as an authorized source said German machine guns, troops, and armored cars will move into that city to combat any organized attempt to foment revolution in occupied France.

This report reached Vichy tonight after Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain had broadcast an unexpected appeal to the citizens of occupied France to cease their attacks on German soldiers lest "innocents" be made to suffer. He spoke on the eve of his departure for a two days' visit to the Savoy region and, it is believed, after representations by the German authorities that the residents of Paris were viewing much too passively the repeated attacks on German troops—attacks for which 35 Frenchmen have paid with their lives, including Saturday's 12-lives-for-one mass execution.

In his speech, the marshal characterized the acts against German soldiers as criminal and asked Parisians to "lend their entire support to help find the guilty ones."

"If we allow these criminal acts to develop, repressive measures, in spite of my efforts, may possibly be inflicted on innocents," Petain said. "Your essential duty is to safeguard French unity under all circumstances. That unity demands, first of all, maintenance of order."

In warning that the Germans would countenance no attempt at organized revolt, the Paris source said that despite demands of the eastern front there are still enough German soldiers to enforce peace in occupied France "even if the French don't want to keep it themselves."

Blame Reds for Disorder.

The source said this was the situation as seen by officials at Paris:

"There are three groups in the occupied zone—the French, the Germans, and the communists. A small group of communists is leading Frenchmen to murder, shoot in the back, and kill like dogs simple German soldiers who officially are only on duty. In no matter what country, in no matter what kind of situation, the same principle stands: Don't let the other fellow get the best of you."

The official view, it was stated, is that there would be no order in Paris without German troops. If they left, the source claimed, an immediate revolt might be expected with Frenchmen fighting Frenchmen and "blood running in the gutters."

FOREMAN FOUND HANGED IN HOME.

HELEN MORGAN STILL SERIOUSLY ILL, SAYS DOCTOR

The condition of Helen Morgan, torch singer, who is seriously ill of a liver disease in Henrotin hospital, was reported unchanged yesterday by her physician, Dr. Samuel Taylor. Miss Morgan was given a blood transfusion in an effort to strengthen her for an operation within the next few days. The operation was scheduled for yesterday but had to be postponed because of her serious condition. Both Miss Morgan's husband, Lloyd Johnson, a Los Angeles automobile dealer, and her mother, Mrs. Lulu Morgan of High Falls, N. Y., keep watch at her bedside.

START INQUIRY TODAY IN TRAIN'S NEAR DISASTER

An investigation will be made today of a near catastrophe in which an Alton passenger train, the Midnight Special to St. Louis, was halted barely in time to avoid plunging into the Chicago river at 21st street early yesterday while the railroad bridge was open. There are automatic signal lights guarding the approaches to the bridge.

The locomotive went nearly half its length beyond the bridge approach, halting with its small front wheels and first large drive wheels already over the water and beyond the rail ends. No one was hurt. The four sleeping cars were taken back to the Union station and the passengers continued their trip after the rails were cleared.

The bridge had been opened to permit a freight boat to pass.

By "personality" is meant the most INTERESTING face—not necessarily the most beautiful or most handsome. From the information accompanying the photographs chosen, Miss Blake will make readings. 726 such readings and photographs will be published in the Daily Tribune during the period of six consecutive weeks beginning September 22nd. 720 will receive cash awards of $10.00 each. 6 will receive cash awards of $100.00 each. Such $100.00 awards will be published on Saturdays besides the regular Daily awards. IN ADDITION, 9 Grand Prizes, totaling $2,200.00, will be awarded at the end of the offer to the persons whose entries are adjudged the most interesting of all whether their photographs have been previously published or not.

3. Prizes shall be payable only to the persons whose photographs are selected and published in the Daily Tribune. 121 photographs and readings will be published each week. Entries for each week's awards must reach the Tribune by noon Thursday preceding week of publication. All photographs received during the offer and until midnight, November 4th, will be considered for the Grand Prizes.

4. This offer is open free to everyone—regardless of age or residence, excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. Age will not be published. No photographs will be returned unless Return Postage is enclosed. Due to the enormous interest the Tribune cannot engage in any correspondence on this subject. Entrants agree to accept the judgment of Doris Blake as final in all matters.

NEW FM STATION OFFERS FIRST OF DAILY PROGRAMS

W-G-N Unit on Air from Noon to Midnight.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Words and music so clear and lifelike that listeners imagined themselves in the studio with radio performers welled forth from Chicago's newest radio station, W59C, for the first time yesterday. W59C is the new frequency modulation station of W-G-N, Inc.

Thru FM, a new technique in broadcasting, listeners hear the full range of musical sounds with all their overtones.

W59C, broadcasting from the top of Tribune Tower, will be on the air henceforth every day from noon to midnight, offering music of all kinds. The station also will present news every hour on the hour.

Welcomed by Other Station.

W59C was saluted yesterday by W51C, Chicago's first FM station. W51C in welcoming W59C to the air, called attention to the latter's frequency, its hours of operation, and its programs.

W59C, in sounding its radio voice for the first time formally, started its 12 hour schedule with news reports. Then came music. The first musical selection was the colorful "Sevillia" from Albeniz's "Suite Espagnole," as recorded by Harry Horlick's orchestra.

Other highlights of the day's program included music by the new W59C string ensemble, piano and organ recitals, a "pop" concert, a symphony hour, chamber music and dance music, and programs of Hawaiian and rhumba music. The latter two are especially suited to FM. W59C also presented the Perfectionists' Hour, its first sponsored program.

Special Demonstrations.

Special FM sound effects demonstrations will be given at 12:45 p. m., 1:45 p. m. and 3:05 p. m. today.

W59C operates on a frequency of 45.9 megacycles in the ultra short-wave field. A megacycle is 1,000 kilocycles. W51C is assigned to 45.1 megacycles. Special FM receivers or attachments on standard radios are required to hear FM stations.

BIT OF OLD WEST COMES TO LIFE IN MORTON GROVE

It looked like the great open spaces in Morton Grove yesterday. Thirty horsemen clad in western regalia escorted an old fashioned covered wagon from the Flying V. F. dude ranch at Berwyn and Lincoln avenues to the fourth annual horse show of the Town and Country Equestrian association in Harms woods in Morton Grove. The troupe, which sang frontier songs and competed in the western stock horse competition, was led by Dr. Thomas A. Carter, 915 West Lakeside place.

Grandmother, 80, Shot as Boy Examines Rifle

Mrs. Augusta Nocchi, 80 years old, 2003 North Mead avenue, was accidentally shot in the back yesterday near Capron, Boone county, when a .22 rifle fired as it was being examined by her grandson, Robert Massi, 13, of the Mead avenue address. Mrs. Nocchi and relatives were parked by the roadside having a picnic lunch, according to Sheriff Perry Bennett, when the accident occurred. Mrs. Nocchi was taken to the Community hospital at Harvard, McHenry county. She is expected to recover.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Oaths to Get Power.

It was in the oath I took that I would, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States. I could not take the office without taking the oath. Nor was it my view that I might take an oath to get power, and break the oath in using the power. I understood, too, that in ordinary civil administration this oath even forbade me to practically indulge my primary abstract judgment on the moral question of slavery.

A. Lincoln

Hodges Letter, April 4, 1864.

THE LESSON OF THOSE BRITISH SHIPS.

Our navy department has announced that 12 British warships are undergoing repairs in this country. All the principal categories of naval vessels are represented, except destroyers. Included in the published list are a battleship, two aircraft carriers, five cruisers, a submarine, two corvettes, and a mine sweeper. There were intimations that the list was not complete, that still other units of the royal navy are being repaired and refitted in our yards.

There is a lesson in this record which congress and the American people cannot afford to miss. The British navy is, of its kind, highly efficient. The ships are well built and the crews are admirably trained and gallant. Nevertheless, this navy has been no match for air power. Whenever the warships ventured into areas where the axis was able to bring the air arm into play the navy has been thoroly defeated. That happened off Norway, off Greece, and off Crete. When the positions were reversed the British air arm found and crippled the Bismarck and could have sunk the German battleship if other means had not been employed.

Instead of profiting from this experience our administration is spending billion upon billion in the construction of the counterparts of the ships which were knocked out by the bombers and are now in our ports undergoing repairs. We do not need such ships for the defense of America.

What we do need is an air navy. With an adequate supply of long range bombers and fighters operating from our offshore bases and with crews trained in the new tactics of sea warfare we can protect ourselves against any assault which may be threatened. If, behind this new navy, we have a highly trained and highly mobile army—and it needn't be a tremendously large one—we can destroy any expedition which may chance to slip thru.

An attack on America from overseas requires the use of hundreds of merchant ships to carry an army and its supplies. We know from the experience of this war that such a surface fleet, even if it were composed of naval vessels, armed and armored like those now being repaired in our navy yards, could not live beneath a hostile air fleet.

The money being spent on the expansion of our old fashioned navy is for much the most part being thrown into the ocean. Hundreds of thousands of tons of steel needed for other kinds of armament are being squandered. A modern navy is an air navy, operating from land bases and airplane carriers. Such a navy will destroy any surface fleet which can be brought against it.

TOO MUCH MONKEY BUSINESS.

The paper business is booming. By this we don't mean the newspaper business, but the industry which supplies the people with the paper used to write themes on, to communicate with our friends and relatives, to dun our debtors, and for many other essential purposes.

There are so many orders for paper waiting to be filled that the manufacturers have been sticking close to their mills. It required something very important to pull them away. And a few days ago there was something very important.

The attraction was a convention of the National Paper Trade association in Chicago. Conventions are sometimes of the greatest importance and sometimes merely an opportunity for a good time. But the paper manufacturers didn't come to Chicago for sport and amusement. They were in dead earnest. It had been announced that Norbert A. McKenna, chief of the pulp and paper section of OPM, would be on hand to tell the members of the association what they could and what they couldn't do. It was highly important for them to know.

There was in particular the question of chlorine, which is essential in paper making. The government had placed all chlorine under priorities and had reduced the amount available to the paper industry, and there were persistent reports of a further cut. Were the reports well founded? And how were the priorities going to be applied to the paper mills which make their own chlorine and which have no facilities for shipping it? What about the standardization of varieties of paper about which there had been rumors? And is the government going to insist that paper be made thinner because some one at Washington thinks that would increase the number of sheets the machines can get out of a given amount of material? And what about prices?

The manufacturers listened closely to Mr. McKenna and on the whole were favorably impressed with him, altho some thought he should have learned a lot more about the industry before he undertook to be its ruler. This is no reflection on Mr. McKenna, for he had been made the OPM boss of paper because he didn't know anything about it and had never had the slightest connection with the business.

We aren't going to detail the answers Mr. McKenna gave to the rather technical questions that were put to him. The point is that there were answers. And the paper men went back to their factories believing that they had found out what restrictions were going to be imposed upon them. Mr. McKenna arrived back in Washington on Tuesday. On Wednesday he discovered that the OPM hierarchy had ideas about the paper business which did not square with his. And on Thursday he resigned. The paper business now has a new papa. Now what are the rules? The paper manufacturers wonder if they shouldn't have another convention and have Dr. Cox give the answers.

It is high time that Washington determined what its organizational setup is going to be for the duration. There is too much monkey business. A burocrat tells you something and you wonder how long he is going to be there. Executives have gone down east and come back with something straight from the horse's mouth, only to find out later that they had listened to the wrong horse, or that the one which had said neigh had gone to pasture immediately afterward. Business men are tough. They can stand a lot of punishment. What they cannot stand are constant, arbitrary, and frequently conflicting orders from a rapidly shifting burocracy that is not too well informed.

GOVERNMENT BY BLACKMAIL.

Secretary Ickes was hiding out among the tall trees when a senate committee investigated his gasoline curfew in the eastern states and recommended that the ridiculous order be abandoned. Upon his return to the capital he announces that regardless of the committee's recommendations the curfew will continue.

The senate committee found that Mr. Ickes' gas shortage was a myth. It has been demonstrated that his curfew wouldn't save gasoline if there was a shortage, leaving the fair presumption that the only purposes in imposing it were to gratify Mr. Ickes' big shot complex and to fan war fever by giving people a false impression of a national emergency.

What has not been generally recognized is that the curfew was imposed without the slightest warrant of law. If a filling station operator told Mr. Ickes to go fly his kite, that he was going to stay open evenings, there is not a court in the land to which the self-styled petroleum czar could appeal to close the place.

Mr. Ickes is petroleum administrator by virtue of a letter of appointment from President Roosevelt. It is doubtful that there is any statute giving the President the power to make that appointment, and it is certain that there is no statute permitting him or any of his appointees to regulate and forbid the sale of gasoline. The President and a White House stenographer cannot write statutes for the United States—at least, not yet.

For enforcement of his curfew Mr. Ickes has to depend upon the oil companies. The impression has been fostered that they will refuse to sell gasoline to any retailer who violates it.

There are several reasons why the companies may be going along with Mr. Ickes. One is that talk of a gasoline shortage has been accompanied by a sharp increase in retail prices, not only in the east but in the middle west. Another possible reason is that Mr. Ickes is trying to put over a pipe line to carry petroleum products to the east, which the big oil companies want but which SPAB has said is unnecessary.

But the principal reason why the oil companies feel they have to obey Mr. Ickes' illegal mandates is that the department of justice has had in preparation for more than a year an anti-trust suit seeking to disintegrate the oil companies by forcing a corporate separation of the different functions of the industry—oil production, transportation, refining, and marketing.

More than a year ago the defense advisory commission urged that this prosecution be suspended for the duration of the defense emergency. The commission found that the proposed unscrambling process would handicap seriously the efforts of the industry to meet defense demands, and in particular embarrass the efforts of the army and navy to set up reserve supplies of fuel for military and naval use.

In spite of this recommendation, the department of justice has kept the prosecution hanging over the head of the oil industry. Meanwhile bills seeking some of the same ends by statutory mandate have been introduced in congress.

The oil companies are under no direct legal compulsion to go along with Mr. Ickes' vexatious and foolish program. But they are under the gun and they know it. They are being subjected to government by blackmail.

If Thurman Arnold wants a real case of combination in restraint of trade, he should be able to find it in the refusal, or implied refusal, to sell gasoline to retailers in the east who refuse to obey the curfew. It would be necessary, however, to indict Mr. Ickes as the chief conspirator.

BRITAIN'S CONSCRIPTS REMAIN AT HOME.

Capt. David Margesson, Britain's war minister, has said that Britain cannot spare the men and arms to undertake a campaign on the continent. Many voices in Britain are crying for aggressive action now that Germany's attention and the bulk of her fighting strength are concentrated upon Russia. Capt. Margesson says no. Britain's army is to be held at home to repel any attack which the Germans may decide to launch.

It is not for us in this country to say whether this decision is strategically sound; it is not for us to decide where and when British lives are to be risked. But we are justified in calling the attention of Americans to the fact that the British aren't looking for any machine guns to charge.

We didn't start the war and we won't get any of the spoils if we win it for Britain. It will take an expeditionary force, fighting on land in western Europe, to defeat the Germans. If the war shouters in this country have their way we shall send such a force to make sacrifices for Britain which she will not make for herself in spite of the fact that circumstances today are more favorable than they are likely to be again.

What Capt. Margesson has said won't make any difference to the assorted bundlers in this country. These organizations take their inspiration from the British propaganda office and its agents. Leading members of the war shouting societies can think only of the day when victory has been won and they can meet the British aristocracy on terms of social inferiority. For that miserable prize the bundlers would sacrifice a million American lives—and none of their own.

SLIGHT FAUX PAS BY THE COMMIES.

[Des Moines Register.]

In Iowa every schoolboy knows that a pitchfork has only three tines.

When a law banning foreign emblems made them find a substitute for the bolshevik hammer and sickle, they put a five tined manure fork in to symbolize the toiling farmers.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

NATURE'S NEON LIGHTS.

The northern lights, about which millions of Americans were talking last Thursday night, are an infrequent phenomenon in this latitude, which is close to their boundary of visibility. In the south of Europe they are practically unknown, and the ancient Greeks and Romans, who have given us much of our mythology about natural wonders, never had a chance to use their imagination upon the strange spectacle. Hence our lack of fantastic folk tales about the uncanny skywritings of the north.

* * *

The best mythical explanation of the northern lights comes out of Scandinavian mythology. You have heard, no doubt, of the Valkyrs—warlike maidens who carry the heroes who have died in battle to Valhalla to serve as a bodyguard for Odin. The ancient Norsemen believed that the Valkyrs' shields gave out a flickering, ghostly radiance which caused the northern lights. Therefore, any appearance of the lights was a portent of war. [This fits into the picture of current history.]

* * *

The explanation pleases us, somehow, more than the scientific theories about sunspots, electrons, alpha particles, and magnetic fields. When it comes to guess work, we prefer the bold strokes of primitive imaginations.

* * *

The light effects of the aurora borealis and its antarctic sister, the aurora australis or septentrionalis, are of many types, several of which may occur simultaneously. They are classified as arcs, rays, bands, curtains, draperies, coronas, and diffuse glows. Last Thursday's manifestation, when we had it under observation, was largely of the diffuse glow type—and how diffused! It covered almost the entire firmament, something we had never seen before.

* * *

The "merry dancers" is another popular term for the northern lights, occasionally used in England. In the lake region of England they are sometimes called "Lord Derwentwater's lights," because of their appearance when that nobleman was beheaded as a rebel on Feb. 24, 1716.

SMALL TOWN GIRL.

She flew the flag of crimson lips,
And too, too red her hair;
Mascara framed her eyes in shade,
Her legs were lean and bare.
As she went down the small town streets,
With pseudo careless airs,
The drugstore cowboys nudged and winked,
With furtive, sneaky stares.
The oldsters whittling on the steps
Rolled a bleary eye;
They had known her granny years ago
And had seen her passing by.
And withered spinsters (all hope fled)
Cried, "Isn't it a shame!"
"She has no background, none at all,"
Said one Colonial dame.
And safely married women
(Their girlhood well forgot)
Sniffed at her cheaply brave array
And anubbed her on the spot.
But who shall judge this gallant craft,
Her colors at her mast.
Let's counsel with ourselves a bit
As she goes slipping past:
She wears a mask, as all men do,
To cloak what they would hide
Of sorrow, pain, and dark despair,
Of brightest hopes denied.

Lila Lennon.

A Quiz to End All Quizzes.

Here is a quiz. I got the idea on my last weekend trip to Nauvoo, laid the foundation at Carthage, put on the sheathing at Galesburg, and had the roof on when I was by-passing Joliet. Test your intelligence. A perfect score is impossible to any one but a mining engineer.

In writing a history of the AEF I had to ride the FEC to investigate the activities of the FBI. According to the WGN, there was to be a sale by the FHA of property forfeited to the FDIC. I got there PDQ and found a small package from the BFM which had just arrived COD. It looked as tho it contained TNT for the SAR, but I found in it a black enameled AHM set to run at 40 MPH. I covered it with an AFE and pinned my DSO on my BVDs preparatory to hanging out a SRO sign, but as there was not a single LDS in sight, and I had no more LSD, I was obliged to send an SOS to my uncle, the DDS, accompanied by my IOU, in a corner of which I had written the cryptic message, FHB. LADY GROWS OLDER.

And sing the beauty of the reddening leaves;
I praise the value of the golden sheaves,
And point the glory of the evening star.

But when I look you level, eye to eye,
And, smiling, say I love life's autumn best,
That I am glad to stop, and wait, and rest,
You may agree—but, O, you know I lie!

The Women from Mars.

The Men from Mars are well known; in fact, a few years ago many people went miles out of their way just because of a radio program about them.

The Women from Mars are not as well known, but the average citizen is more likely to see one of them. Some Saturday night walk past the beauty parlor in your neighborhood, and there you will see some of the Women from Mars, sitting in their strange helmets. Ward Monte.

Please don't settle that "Hallie" question so quickly. . . . James Whitcomb Riley immortalized a lovable girl of his neighborhood, who died at an early age, in his poem, "Little Hallie." The child's name was Mahala Ashcraft. Halcyon Day.

THE ROLE OF ANIMALS IN THE SPREAD OF DISEASE.

HUMAN beings could scarcely exist without domestic animals. Milk cows furnish the best food we know of and they constitute the foster mothers of the world. In addition, cattle offer an invaluable source of protein.

But bovine tuberculosis may wreak havoc with children. Most communities avoid this hazard by pasteurizing milk and making certain that diseased meat is not eaten. The dairy and packing industries have coöperated to the fullest extent in ridding our herds of this disorder — which many years ago was widespread.

Undulant fever, on the other hand, is quite another matter. It is called "Bang's disease" in cattle and occurs far more often than we realize. Among other maladies that may be transmitted by "Bossie" are anthrax, foot-and-mouth disease, and actinomycosis [a fungus infection].

In warfare, the Persian cavalry was as much a surprise to the Egyptians and Babylonians as the mechanized divisions of the Nazis were to the Greek mountaineers. When the people of the Persian hills executed their swift raids on the villages of Mesopotamia, they brought as vicious a "blitzkrieg" as we are witnessing today.

But horses need to be safeguarded—not only for their own preservation—but for the safety of their owners. They have recently been recognized as an important source of encephalitis. Glanders is another equine ailment that may afflict man. Despite all precautions, veterinarians and laboratory workers are frequently infected. Anthrax and splenic fever may also be disseminated by these four footed friends.

Swine may be responsible for both porkworm and tapeworm. In addition, hogs are susceptible to tuberculosis and they may also contract undulant fever.

Sheep, fortunately, are relatively clean. They may acquire rabies [hydrophobia] from rabid dogs, but seldom transmit it to man. But they can act as hosts for two parasites, the liver fluke and the dog tapeworm. Goats were the means of introducing Malta [undulant] fever into the United States.

Our household pets—cats and dogs—are more closely associated with man than the animals mentioned above. In fact, some may share the doubtful privilege of becoming bedfellows. While we can regard hydrophobia as their most dangerous possibility, nevertheless they can pass along infectious jaundice and tapeworm. Then, too, both can carry numerous bacterial infections. If they give board and lodging to fleas, they may convey rat bite fever and still another variety of tapeworm.

When we permit rats and mice to linger about the home—to feed on garbage from pails in the alley, we are harboring a real menace to health. They constitute the greatest threat of all. Furthermore, they are costly boarders. Five dollars per rat per year is probably not too high an estimate of their maintenance.

It is well known that they are the chief sowers of bubonic plague. While this disease is now confined to relatively few cases occurring on the Pacific coast and in southern ports, a drop in vigilance for a single day may give it a chance to spread to other parts of the land. If we turn back the pages of history, we will note that in the 14th century a quarter of the world's population perished from this frightful distemper. We can stop it entirely if we will eradicate rodents.

We need not do without cows, horses, sheep, and swine. But we can be alert to cleanliness in their handling and thus avoid the illnesses which may come from contacts when they are sick.

THE FUNSTON METHOD.

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 20.—Gen. Fred Funston, of fond memory, maintained that if his officers did their duty in looking after the well being of their troops, the enforcing of discipline would take care of itself.

Funston practiced what he preached, as any soldier from general officer to enlisted man that ever served under him will testify. To him court martials were confessions of weakness in his officers. More than two or three prisoners in the guard house would start the general on a rampage, and woe betide the commanding officer who couldn't think of good [and they had to be good] reasons why he had to court martial a soldier instead of settling the matter man to man.

The general believed that soldiers were hired to fight, and the tougher they were the better they could fight. If some of his men kicked over a honky tonk or beat up a squad of local police, well, boys will be boys and soldiers "ain't no plaster saints." Funston would go into San Antone personally and rescue some of his exuberant soldiers from the clutches of the local gendarmerie.

Our present army is all right. Give them intelligent, understanding leadership and they will go up to the gates of hell and drag out the devil, under the command of a Leonard Wood. I can't say the same for a Ben Lear.

THE EGG AS AN ARGUMENT.

Ackley, Ia., Sept. 20.—If it took one left wing New Dealer to hit Willkie in the eye with an egg last year, and it took four left wing New Dealers to miss Senator Wheeler with four eggs this year, how many left wing messengers from Washington will it take to cause every gathering in this country in the next four months to adopt a stereotyped set of resolutions for the sending of six million American boys to fight on foreign soil, when the resolutions are camouflaged with superficial emotionalist inventions like this: "We believe the basic elements of national defense to be the ability to carry war, when unavoidable, to our enemy, and thus prevent him from bringing war to us."

In order that the New Dealers may not misunderstand me or lie about me, I add thereto, "Down with Hitler and all dictators." And also I consider Winston Churchill one of the greatest, if not the greatest, prime minister in the world, because he fights with his own country and his own empire first in his thoughts.

DOESN'T BLAME THE MOVIES.

New York, Sept. 18.—Hasn't it occurred to the isolationist senators that it is not the "war pictures" produced by the picture industry, but the many invasions, broken faith, brutalities, lies, and wholesale plunderings by Hitler that have stirred a feeling of wrath in the hearts and minds of true Americans? Before there was time for even one "war mongering" picture to be filmed, millions of Americans had already realized the terrible menace of Hitlerism to world liberty and decency. JANE O'R.

LEARNING LANGUAGES.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—As a naturalized American of Spanish descent, may I refer to a business man's complaint that American students don't learn languages?

When I studied my languages in Europe, I was trained thru the ear medium. It is true that we had books, but we were taught to hear and to speak, since we learned languages for the practical purpose of understanding our neighbors. The textbooks were, therefore, planned for that purpose. None of the textbooks published for school use that I have examined in this country has such a purpose in mind. The American student is taught to analyze and read so as to pass an examination at the end of the term, which he can do quite successfully.

The textbook exercises are school bookish and deal with subjects never encountered in everyday life. "The teacher asks John to read." "John is a diligent pupil." The reading material used later is too literary for practical purposes. The Latins never write the way they speak. Our written language is a specialized form and books composed of literary selections fail to touch upon our everyday forms of speech.

American students also begin their language study in the secondary schools and most Europeans either thru the private school or the tutoring system start in early childhood when the auditive system is most impressionable. I am often told that Americans have no ear, but foreigners that come here as adults speak atrocious English ever after, which proves that the ear does not "pick up" the language, but must be trained by a good phonetic system at the start.

Language classes in this country are too large. Democracy has extended the privileges of education to the mass, but a teacher cannot cope with 50 students when each one should have special ear training possible only in small groups. With the present method a student will pass examinations with credit, but confronted with practical language problems will surely fail. To use the words of a facetious student:

An American student in Spain,
Invariably misses his train;
He remembers his verb,
But he has not the nerve
To hold up the traffic in vain.
While he thinks of the proper refrain.

ESTER PEREZ DE KING.

AN EXHIBITION IN THE SKY.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—How many people noticed the exceptionally beautiful display of the Aurora Borealis last evening?

Appearing first, to my observation, about 10:15 p. m., as a broad greenish glow extending from the eastern to the northwest horizon, it reached its height of beauty at 10:30 p. m. with a rapid swirling nebular spiral movement of rainbow hues emanating from a central focal point directly overhead.

It was the most wonderful display of this beautiful natural phenomena I have ever seen.

By 10:45 p. m. the magnificent central display had spread out and broken up into individual shafts of light resembling an army maneuver involving thousands of powerful searchlights.

SAVING TIME—NOT "GAS."

En Route, Sept. 16.—Back in Seattle this morning after a rainy week on the Pacific coast of the Olympic peninsula. I passed the humble log cabin on Crescent lake where Ickes had just spent a month—a N. S. forest ranger cabin.

Last Tuesday I was bound for Aberdeen in the rain. Ickes passed me on his way from Crescent to Lake Quinault for lunch—a 200 mile round trip. He was riding in the rear seat, left side, of a Pontiac with Washington license. Following were two men in a department of interior roadster with truck body, to protect the august rear. I hung on for 15 miles to the Quinault turn, and—would you believe it—had to drive 60-65 most of the time to remain a part of the entourage. Weren't we told to hold her down to 40 to save gas and tires? Don't do as I do—do as I say! H. W. G.

LEADERS AND FATHER TIME.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—A leader is not immortal. Will another arise to take his place?

Who succeeded Moses? Who followed Darius? Alexander the Great or Caesar?

Who followed Cleopatra? Catherine the Great or Queen Elizabeth?

Who followed Peter the Great? Gustavus Adolphus or Frederic the Great?

Who replaced Washington or Lincoln?

Little mention is made of the influence of Father Time in settling human problems. Many leaders are influenced too much by the idea that their names must be engraved on the records which Father Time creates and arbitrates.

3. Would the remarriage of Mr. X alter the daughter's rights? M. S.

ARMY'S NEW P-39 PURSUIT PLANE IS THE PRIDE OF U. S.

Speed, Fire Power, and Maneuverability Hailed.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Only a dream four years ago, the army's Bell Airacobra or P-39 pursuit plane today is one of the most important elements in the nation's air force. In this short time has been developed a ship whose speed, maneuverability, and fire power are praised probably more than that of any modern military airplane.

This potent craft is manufactured here at the plant which Larry Bell, the dynamic and knowledgeable president and general manager of the Bell corporation, conjured out of virtually nothing in the four year period.

The Bell corporation is one of the youngest of the country's factories. Its major plant at this time is in the old Consolidated Aircraft company's buildings in northwest Buffalo proper. Within a few months, however, this will be changed. The company has built an ideal factory—one that is laid out with the purpose of large scale, high speed production from the beginning to the end—near Niagara Falls. This factory already is functioning but will not be in high gear for a little time yet.

Trip Made Thru Plants.

With the approval of the war department, I was taken thru both the Buffalo and Niagara Falls plants by Fred Neely, assistant to Bell, a few days ago. We started with a walk thru the engineering and executive offices, then plunged into the din of the drophammer, machining, and primary subassembly departments. The now familiar drilling jigs, templates and high speed saws, and stamping technique were in full swing. Huge lathes shaped the main spars for the airplane and prepared these spars for their next step.

Besides this department was another where the main "cradle" for the P-39's power plant, pilot, and its extension drive shaft was prepared. This cradle is virtually the keel of the plane, because the P-39 is radically different from any other aircraft that ever was ordered as a production type of fighting plane in this country. A word of explanation is necessary on this point.

Engine Behind Pilot.

Most fighting planes have the motor at the nose, the fuel and oil tanks behind the engine, then the pilot's cockpit, and finally the tail. The Airacobra reverses this by having the engine resting on a special mount directly behind the pilot. The propeller at the nose is driven by a 10 foot extension shaft that extends under the pilot's compartment to a gearbox in the nose. The propeller is driven off a stub shaft from this gearbox, and is so designed that a heavy caliber, quick firing cannon shoots thru a doughnut hole in the propeller hub.

"This airplane developed out of my desire to provide our army with a fast pursuit ship having the maximum fire power," Bell tells interrogators who ask him why he put the motor behind the pilot.

"The way to get the maximum fire power was to put your heavy guns in the nose. The question rose then—where will the engine go. The logical answer was—behind the pilot. We put it there. This gave the pilot perfect visibility and also gave us space to install a nose wheel to give the craft a tricycle landing gear. All in all, it worked out beautifully for both air and ground handling."

Controls Easily Installed.

At any rate, the first step in fuselage construction is creation of the cradle which forms the engine bed, cockpit, and nose of the plane. As soon as the main structural pieces are together, mechanics begin the process of stringing control cables, control stick and rudder pedals, and the myriad electric, fuel, exhaust, lubrication, and hydraulic flap and gear control lines. All this is done while the cradle is still open, so that workmen can get at every part quickly and easily.

Next comes the installation of the huge radiator for the Allison V-12 liquid cooled motor that provides power for the airplane. At the same time some of the craft's skin is put on the hull. And at a station not far down the production line the engine itself is snuggled into its bed and bolted with eight long tapering pins.

In the same work station the two sections of the drive shaft and the gear box in the nose are installed and the guarding pipes around these fitted. Here, too, the nose wheel retraction mechanism is bolted on and all the mechanism except the shock strut and the wheel itself is added.

Wings Built in Pairs.

Meanwhile in another part of the shop the wings have been built in pairs. Each consists of a multiple spar covered with metal skin. Self-sealing fuel tanks provided by the army are slipped into place and tested by blowing them up with compressed air. These tanks reduce somewhat the fuel capacity of the Airacobra but are described as one of the most important features of the plane.

At the proper point on the line, wings and fuselage come together. Tips are added to the wings, and tail planes to the body. The top of the perfectly streamlined cabin is lifted on and riveted to the cradle. Then when the landing gear and propellers are added the plane becomes a whole unit and is pushed out to the final assembly floors for its preflight testing and motor run-in.

Bell company officials boast that the American version of their plane is the most heavily armed pursuit plane in the world. And this armament has not reduced its high speed in the air, they say. The Allison motors now being delivered have a slight increase in power over the original engines they used and this has almost offset the increases in weight that more guns and some armor around the pilot's cockpit have added to the plane.

The high rating of the plane is the result of exhaustive tests made by Wright field engineers and army personnel who put the plane thru its paces in the last two years. Some of these tests were shown in a special motion picture prepared by the Bell company and displayed to visitors in the factory's projection room. The picture records ground and air maneuvers during the test flying, firing of the plane's guns, and acrobatics.

In the course of the tests the plane was dived to a speed said to be 620 miles an hour. It withstood the pull-out from the dive, proving the soundness of its construction. It has been spun, rolled, looped, stalled in every attitude, and generally abused and thrown about in the air without developing any characteristic considered bad.

At the Niagara Falls plant, Neely arranged for Bob Stanley, former navy flyer and flight engineer for the company, to give a demonstration of the plane's performance. He taxied out to the adjoining airport, poured the fuel to the throttle, and almost instantly was off in a steep climbing left turn. He was at 2,000 feet or more when he had completed an 180 degree change of direction, and this from a standing start.

Holds Course Straight Up.

He wheeled around the factory, still tail down in a steep climb, and then made a shallow power-on dive at the airport runway. Operating silently compared to planes with the more familiar air cooled radial engines, the Airacobra came down to within 100 feet of the ground and then raised its nose in a steep climb.

"He was doing about 325 miles an hour across here," an engineer said. "And he can gain 4,000 feet in one zoom without any trouble. Watch him."

The little fighter, so perfectly streamlined it reminded one of a fish, held its course straight up. Then it came on over on its back, and the pilot rolled the ship right side up. It was a 4,000 foot Immelman turn, a maneuver that only a high powered pursuit ship could perform with such a radius.

"I had a hard time selling my main thesis to the buyers of my plane," Bell said, "until they began to see what the European war lessons were showing. Now they are even demanding more fire power, more armor, and more speed. We expect to give them more of that last by two or three methods, all of which involve only minor improvements already coming along in the Allison engine."

5 MILLION 'MUMS' HELP CHICAGO U. START BIG WEEK

Graduates and Academic Notables See Gardens.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Fiftieth anniversary week of the University of Chicago began informally yesterday afternoon amid five million chrysanthemums on the 92 acres of landscaped gardens of the Mill Road farm estate, which Albert D. Lasker recently gave to the university.

While yesterday's affair was a preview for university alumni and officers of a coming chrysanthemum show, yet the gardens gave an appropriate foretaste of the brilliance of events to come at the Midway, when the flower of the world's scholarship assembles there today in tribute to the university's half century of contribution to mankind.

They're Special Guests.

Alumni were the special guests at Mill Road farm yesterday. Two thousand of them and scores of academic notables strolled along the paths between the 15 chrysanthemum plots. Among the chrysanthemums were the Hardy strain, which was developed by the botany department of the university.

The chrysanthemum show will begin Sept. 27 and end Oct. 19. The estate located on Old Mill road a mile west of Waukegan road, will be open to the public at a small admission fee.

The 50 room provincial French manor house for which the gardens form the setting was opened yesterday for tea served to officers and trustees of the university and special guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lasker. Gov. Green, a law alumnus of the university, and Col. William J. Donovan, head of the office of defense information, were among the special guests.

Presiding at the tea were Mr. and Mrs. Lasker; Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the university, and Mrs. Hutchins; John Nuveen, president of the Alumni association and Mrs. Nuveen, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Woodward. Mr. Woodward is vice president emeritus of the university and director of the anniversary celebration.

School Opens Wednesday.

The formal alumni program, known as the special alumni school, will open at the Quadrangles on Wednesday, with Attorney Donald R. Richberg, of Washington, D. C., as dean. One feature of the school, as well as the anniversary celebration, will be a selection of 200 books which have been written by graduates and former students of the university. The books were selected for their popular appeal from among the works of 100 writers. The authors include Stephen Leacock, James T. Farrell, John Gunther, Harry Hansen, Meyer Levin, and Vincent Sheean. Among more unusual volumes is Burlycue, by Bernard Sobel, a history of burlesque.

Other anniversary exhibits include the Del Drago collection of Chinese paintings from the 1st to the 17th centuries. The exhibit will be opened today with a tea attended by Giovanni del Drago, of New York, owner of the collection; Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, and Dr. Chang Lok Cheng, Chinese consul general.

DIVORCEE SLAIN; HER WOOER, SHOT, IS NEAR DEATH

Marion, Ind., Sept. 21 (AP).—Mrs. Delphia Muchmore, a 47 year old Marion divorcée, died in a hospital today and a Marion man, Tom S. Crawley, 59, lay dangerously wounded because of what Deputy Sheriff Von West of Grant county said was described to him as a lovers' quarrel shooting.

Both were shot with a rusty old .32 caliber automatic pistol in Mrs. Muchmore's automobile yesterday just beyond the city limits.

The deputy sheriff said each accused the other of the shooting. Mrs. Muchmore's husband has married again. She leaves one son. Crawley is a widower.

CAR OF HIT-RUN DRIVER THROWS VICTIM 65 FEET

Lake county police are hunting a hit-run driver who early yesterday killed Giuseppe Picchietti, 50 years old, 544 North Central avenue, Highwood, at Belvidere street and Sheridan road in Waukegan. The body was hurled more than 65 feet. Picchietti was a truck driver.

Nickolas Olson, 68, of 5401 Crystal street, a carpenter, died in Sherman hospital, Elgin, of injuries suffered Friday when his automobile overturned in Highway 14, three miles northwest of Barrington, in Lake county. Before dying, Olson said another car had sideswiped his automobile, causing the accident.

Four persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a State street car near 79th street. None of the street car passengers or crew was hurt.

Those in the automobile were John Waldron, 24, of 7202 Aberdeen street; Dorothy Floyd, 23, of 5918 South La Salle street; John McBride, 27, of 441 West 69th street, and Rosemary Felker, 21, of 6319 South Laflin street. They were taken to St. George's hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 675 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 467 were killed in Chicago where 18,162 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

Running Board Bandits Rob Couple in Deerfield

Two gunmen hopped on the running board of a car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lemm, 1057 Central avenue, Deerfield, when it stopped at Deerfield and Wilmot roads on the outskirts of the village last night. They took a ring valued at $250, a watch worth $175 and $4, and escaped in another car.

That Colorful Old Visitor, Autumn, Here Tomorrow

Autumn will step into town at 5:33 a. m. tomorrow. At that moment the sun crosses the equator. The weather bureau handed out this information yesterday, adding that the mercury hit 89.3 degrees in downtown Chicago and 91 at the airport. This made it a very warm Sept. 21 indeed. The record for any Sept. 21 was an official 90 degrees in 1931. The weather bureau said it would be warm again today and tomorrow, with a cooling off scheduled for tomorrow night.

"THE BEST INSURANCE AGAINST BALDNESS IS TREATMENT BY JOHN E. WARNER ASSOCIATES" SAYS COMEDIAN BILLY GILBERT

CHICAGO, ILL., Sept. 22—(J. W.)—Billy Gilbert, nationally famous screen comedian, has been a funny man to millions of people, but he is serious about his good head of hair. He is among the leaders in all lines of endeavor who have retained or improved their hair through treatment by John E. Warner Associates. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through the advanced scientific Warner treatment, but hundreds of others have been rejected because they waited too long and were told that they could not receive benefit from treatment.

A private scalp examination and consultation is available to you at the offices of John E. Warner Associates without cost or obligation. FEES FOR TREATMENT ARE VERY MODERATE AND ARE PAYABLE AS THE TREATMENTS ARE TAKEN, NOT IN ADVANCE. There is a separate department for women. Thru the LOOKING GLASS

One of our correspondents wants to know what quick steps she can take to get the dye out of her hair. After years of dyeing it she is going to let the whole world in on the news that her hair is gray, but like most women she finds the in-between period pretty trying.

Our best advice is that she give her hair the best attention she's ever given it. Scalp massage, daily, will be a little helpful, and morning and evening brushing will be even more so. Then, she should have professional treatments that include oiling.

This period of waiting for the dye coat to fade completely is a difficult one, but if the hair is pretty well saturated with a penetrating dye, time and attention are the only things that will help it to wear away.

It's been our experience, by observation at least, that this is a good time to lean rather heavily on the hair specialist, not only because her treatments hasten the disappearance of the dye but because they condition the hair so that when it is back to its natural color it's healthy and pretty.

Few heads of hair survive years of dyeing without some loss of luster and spring, and this is especially true if the dyeing has been inexpert.

Anything that promotes a healthier scalp will have the effect of stimulating the growth of hair, and the combination of growth of the undyed hair and constant cleansing of the dyed portions will be as efficient as any steps could be.

Girl Inspires the Attitude of Her Beau

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am 20 years old, and agree with the young man who claims that girls who are subjected to unpleasant advances invite them by their words, their conduct, or their dress. There may be an occasional fellow who knows no moral code but, on the whole, the girl regulates the standard of conduct for the young man. If she commands respect she'll get it, and I'm no old-fashioned prig sitting on the sidelines passing judgment. I go out and I have a good time without the young men ever 'getting fresh.' However, that is not the point of my letter. It is this:

"What gets me down is the older generation. They think that a boy and girl cannot 'go steady' a year without doing things they should not; in other words, being indecent.

"We have just a good, clean time. Why do grownups think this is impossible? If it was possible in their day, why not in ours? Doesn't love bring out the best that's in both boy and girl, not the worst?

"However, I wish you would explain my question: Why does the older generation imply we are so depraved we cannot enjoy each other's company without exploring forbidden fields? That's what I want to know. —Signed J. B. H."

So, older generation, since J. B. H.'s remarks involve you, you'd better query the why of your viewpoint on youth, if it is of the kind suspected. If guilty, understand that one sure way of planting the seeds of improper behavior is to imply distrust, lack of faith, confidence in the young people.

'Party' Face May Be Yours for 'Every Day'

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

You get a fair idea of what you can do for that nice face of yours when you give it everything for a party engagement, don't you? Its nice perfection surprises even you. Modest tho you may be, you're proud of it!

That's when you take time for the clean foundation work and more time for the "art" work on cheek, lips, and eyelid.

We don't mean to say that you will have time every day for the finished "party" face. Still, there's a good deal of time wasted daily on less important details or, indeed, on doing nothing at all.

It's an indisputable fact that the only possible thing wrong with the cosmetic art today is lack of time and care in its application. The materials are all there and readily available: The good foundation cream or lotion; before that, the good cleansing cream and the astringent for removing its very last vestige; the rouge and lipstick colorings are amazingly fine; the powders are simply "tops" in tone and texture. As we say, the cosmetics are unimpeachable, so it must be hurried or careless application of the tints and tones which is at fault. We must also consider poor lighting as a factor, too.

Now, another season of pretty clothes is emerging, calling for pretty faces as appropriate "accessories." And new seasons bring new resolutions, especially the fall season, with winter at its heels. Not a bad resolution, therefore, to swear in for a face that is honestly done right by as far as makeup is concerned.

That five minute sitdown performance in front of the mirror is pleaded for as doing things for the face that rouging, lipsticking, and powdering on the run cannot accomplish. You have the five minutes. You have the cosmetic aids. And you have the face yearning for the kindly treatment it deserves. It's up to you to make those few extra minutes speak for you. It does right well for you on a date. You can let it do more for your daily activities.

Frock and Matching Jacket

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Extremely popular this season are the fall ensembles consisting of one piece woolen or crêpe frock with matching jacket. Such a "suit" is very versatile, combining the practicality of the tailored costume with the elegance of "dressmaker" ensembles. Today's pattern offers an especially smart version of the fashion, one with a long torso jacket.

Style No. 3032 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material for dress; 2⅝ yards for jacket.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred — wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The summer pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Dream Stuff Describes New Fall Fabrics

BY REA SEEGER.

They're unrolling the fall fabrics before record crowds of shoppers, shoppers who are especially enthusiastic over the beautiful new brocades, yards of new swishing taffetas, the superb lengths of silk jerseys and exciting picturesque stuff combining velvet and taffeta! Colors, too, play to tremendous acclaim. Even the sophisticated blacks are sensationally different this fall . . . for instance, the brocades, dull black backgrounds with the design in satin. There's one pattern of dots of satin against dull crinkled silk; another of satin bowknots with the mat texture old fashioned brocaded patterns like the materials used in masculine dress waistcoats, small floral effects, sprays of leaves, and small French patterns.

The striped velvet and taffeta materials are eye catching, flattering to use for evening jackets, for ball gowns, and for afternoon dresses. Such material makes wide billowing skirts for demure little basque blouses of velvet or velveteen. Fuchsia with black, willowware blue with black, French blue with black and a gypsy red that alternates with the inch wide velvet stripes are some of the finds.

Silk and rayon jerseys by the yard are being sold out as fast as the yardage can be wrapped. The color range is outstanding, tobacco brown, copper, and blonde beige topping the list.

All shades of green are going strong, also the unusual shades of old gold, cherry red, chartreuse, taupe, vermillion, parma violet, and the evening pastels, oyster white, pink, blue, and similar colors. Some of the new black stuff is as thin as a cobweb, and the fascinating beggheera textures are super fascinating because of the crêpey dullness.

New taffetas feature huge plaids and checks, with the lovely pastel tints in big plaids the new idea for picture book ball gowns. Crinkled alternate stripes with satin is another new arrival; checked silks that swish almost as much as the taffetas and look like the old fashioned silks from Godey's Lady Book illustrations.

Audrey Voet and Lawrence Hauxhurst Wed

Miss Audrey Voet, daughter of Gaston Voet of Oak Park, and Lawrence Van Dyke Hauxhurst, son of Mrs. Stanley C. Hauxhurst of Milwaukee, Wis., were married at 4 o'clock last Saturday afternoon in the chapel of the Holy Name cathedral. A reception followed at the Blackstone hotel. Miss Frances Elizabeth O'Brien, aunt of the bride, was at the head of the receiving line.

Miss Voet was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Barbara Hauxhurst, and Mrs. Charles E. Kohl III. of Milwaukee. Mr. Hauxhurst's brother, John Stanley Hauxhurst, who flew here from Los Angeles, Cal., with his wife, was best man. Ushering were Paige Cofrin and Kenneth Wentworth Browne of Milwaukee. Father James Brett read the service.

After a wedding trip to Lake Placid and New York, Mr. Hauxhurst, who is a cousin of the Gilbert H. Scribners, and his bride will be at home in Milwaukee.

Miss Alice Catherine Churchill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Churchill of Wessington Springs, S. D., and Franklin C. Stark of Chicago were married Tuesday in the home of Miss Churchill's uncle, E. D. Leyson of Miller, S. D. Mr. Stark, who has been practicing law in Chicago, was graduated from the Northwestern university law school in 1940. He now is connected with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C.

Miss Harriette Stokes, daughter of Mrs. Harry Stokes of Stewart avenue, and Charles Shostrom Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Shostrom of Harvard avenue, will be married at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the Normal Park Presbyterian church. Miss Stokes attended MacMurray College for Girls in Jacksonville, Ill. Mr. Shostrom is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Women to Sell 1,000 Tickets to Benefit Play, 'The Women'

BY JUDITH CASS.

A THOUSAND seats to sell for a benefit may seem a lot, but it is likely that this number might be oversubscribed for two performances of "The Women" as put on by a group of semiprofessional and amateur postdebs and young marrieds next Oct. 17 and 18. The play will be given in the auditorium of the North Shore Country Day school, where many of the cast learned their A B C's. Both performances will be evening ones.

The large cast is headed by Miss Florence Hagenah, who played at the Rollins theater in Easthampton, N. Y., all summer, and who is to have the part of Mary Haines, the wife. The other principal parts will be played by Miss Sally Korrady as Sylvia; Miss Francigene Sheridan as Nancy Blake, the authoress; Miss Marjorie Hamilton as vague Peggy Day, and Mrs. John L. Irving as Edith.

Miss Mary Anne Henderson, who will have the part of Mary Haines' 11 year old daughter, will depart for New York after the performances to start rehearsals for Noel Coward's new play. Miss Mary Stuart Macdonald, another player, is to have an ingénue part in a new musical comedy opening here later this fall.

Other Members of the Cast.

Miss Kay Kelly, Mrs. Bayne O'Brien, Miss Gertrude Scribner, Miss Virginia Creigh, Mrs. Joseph Fall, Mrs. Albert Winston, Miss Kay Littlefield, Miss Barbara Burnham, Miss Jean Delaney, Miss Jane Parker, Miss Ann Musson, Miss Margot Webbe, Miss Jean Wolcott, Mrs. Scott A. McKeown Jr., Miss Grace Bull, Miss Patricia Kelly, Miss Anne Daughaday, Miss Zada Craft, Miss Betty Weston, Miss "Puff" White, Miss Toddy Long, and Miss Jean Grassett are the other members of the cast. Mrs. Paul Dodge, who has sung in many a Service club revue, will have the part of Mary Haines' mother.

Miss Janet Musselman is doing the costumes for the play. Miss Dorothy Wieboldt and Charles Huribut are designing the stage scenery, Mr. McKeown is the stage manager, Burr Lee is the director, Miss Webbe is in charge of advertising, Miss Kay Kelly and Miss Weston are publicity directors, and Miss Littlefield will have charge of makeup.

Rehearsals are being held nights at the school. Tickets will cost $1.25 and $1.75, and the United Service organizations will receive the proceeds.

Unusual Invitations to a Country Dinner.

Attractive, unusual and amusing invitations have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Neil to an old-fashioned country dinner next Sunday in their stable at 1230 North Waukegan road, Lake Forest. The invitations are foot long rolls of Manila paper, about an inch and a half in diameter, and when opened an ear of colorful Indian corn falls out. Dinner will be served at high noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Talbot Winston have cards out for the debut tea of their niece, Miss Mary Winston Dowling, on Friday, Oct. 10, from 4 until 6 o'clock at the Arts club. Miss Winston, whose home is in California, will spend the winter with her uncle and aunt.

Onwentsia Powwow Dates Are Changed.

The date of the Onwentsia's powwow, the club's 29th annual harvest fête, has been advanced to next Saturday and Sunday from the following week-end. More than 300 men are expected to take part. The powwow is a stag affair for members over 30, who may invite guests.

Mrs. Peter G. Moon will open her handsome, modern Lake Forest home, formerly the residence of William E. Clow, Jr., on Sept. 30 for a bridge party to benefit the Children's Memorial hospital. The Junior auxiliary of the hospital, which is headed by Mrs. Orville E. Babcock Jr., is in charge of the benefit, at which tea will be served. Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes Jr. is in charge of refreshments and Mrs. Anthony M. Ryerson is chairman of arrangements.

Some of the officers of the auxiliary are Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody Jr., Mrs. Edward B. Woolf Jr., Mrs. Jack Vilas Jr., and Mrs. F. Osborne Elliott. Mr. and Mrs. Babcock just have moved into their own new Lake Forest home.

Third Child Born to John Goodwillies.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goodwillie [Betty Kellogg] are being congratulated on the birth of their third child, a boy, on Friday in Passavant hospital. The baby has a sister and a brother, Carol and John Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Kurtz [Barbara Belair] of Winnetka, became the parents of their second son, John, last Friday. The boy was born in Evanston hospital. Mr. Kurtz is the noted cellist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Sept. 11 was the birth date of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius M. Trowbridge Jr.'s infant daughter, who has been named Melody. The former Catherine Crane and Mr. Trowbridge live in Grayslake.

Susan Calkins are the names Mr. and Mrs. John Sample of Lake Forest have given their infant daughter, born on Sept. 14 at the Alice Home hospital. The baby's mother is the former Kathleen Calkins.

"Japan and the United States" is the interesting subject to be discussed at a meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 o'clock Friday in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House. The speaker will be Juiji George Kasai, a member of the Japanese chamber of deputies. He recently arrived in the United States from Japan.

Marjorie Cowan's Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Cowan announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie, to Capt. Carl C. Geisler, son of Mrs. M. G. Ritter of Wausau, Wis. The wedding will take place the middle of next month in Washington, D. C.

Miss Cowan was graduated from the Roycemore school and from Northwestern university. Capt. Geisler is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and of the Harvard Business school. After their marriage Capt. Geisler and his bride will be at home in Washington, D. C.

The Chauncey McCormicks returned to Chicago from their summer home in Seal Harbor, Me., in time to see Deering McCormick receive his commission as an ensign in the United States naval reserve. Ensign McCormick is to report for duty at Norfolk, Va. His youngest brother, Roger, departed yesterday to return to Yale.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are expected to go east again for the marriage on Oct. 18 of Miss Cynthia Brooks Howe and Augustus G. Paine II. Miss Howe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deering Howe of Brookville, N. Y., who are doubly related to the McCormicks. Mrs. Howe and Mr. McCormick are cousins; and Mrs. McCormick and Mr. Howe are similarly related.

Earliest of Early Birds Leaves for the South.

Earliest of the early birds to be leaving for the winter is Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis. She departs this week for visits in New York and Connecticut and then will go to her cold weather home at Winter Park, Fla.

Mrs. Hollis Kirk has returned to the west and is enjoying New Mexican life in Santa Fe.

The Victor M. Hardings and their daughters, Jane and Beatrice, have gone to Mexico City to spend a year. Their headquarters is an apartment in the city, but the family is making a number of short trips thru the country. Mr. and Mrs. Harding rented their Hubbard Woods home to Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Behlen and their two children of Wayne, Pa.

Plan Benefit Fashion Show, Tea, and Book Review

Mrs. Howard Linn, left; Mrs. I. Newton Perry, standing, and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster talking over plans for a fashion show, tea, and book review to be given in Camellia House at the Drake tomorrow afternoon for the benefit of France Forever. Part of the program will be broadcast over W-G-N. Mrs. Brewster will be the "Camellia Lady" of the day, and will receive a bouquet of these flowers. She is chairman of arrangements for the afternoon.

Opens Home for Meeting.

Mrs. James D. Harvey will open her home at 4822 Kenwood avenue today at 2:30 o'clock for the regular meeting of the Kenwood Social Service club.

Difference.

Mildred C. Barbour relays another German story: An American in Germany was suffering with a toothache and finally went to a dentist to have it extracted. The dentist told him it would cost $35. "Thirty-five dollars!" exclaimed the American. "Why in America it would cost only $3."

"O, well," replied the German dentist, "it's different in the United States. There you can open your mouth, and here we have to take out the tooth thru the ear."

Book Learning.

Ten thousand books surround us
In this antiquarian shop
Where the white bloom of dust
And a cold gloom embalms
Ten centuries of thought.

Having found the book I sought
I turn to Miss Jones my companion,
And she, too, is ready,
Having found
A Digest magazine
To absorb her for the week.

Commenting on her choice
I pedantically remind her of the sage
Who said:
It is useless to cast a net
To catch the image of the moon.
To which she replies:
"But think of the coverage I get!"

Painter's Mistake.

A sign painter at the University of Chicago prepared signs to guide the 450 delegates from educational institutions about the quadrangles during the week of scientific symposia and academic festival, Sept. 22-24. All were accurate until he came to the university's maternity hospital, which he christened "Lying Inn."

Recips for a Husband.

Men who have gone to the Selwyn to see Claudia come away enthusiastic about the remarkable performance of Phyllis Thaxter; women about that of the husband, Reed Brown. Two girls sitting over their luncheons were analyzing it:

"I guess it's because he plays the kind of husband every girl would like to have," said one of them. "You know, he's terribly in love with his wife, but he doesn't show it too much. He's dependable, but casual. He's tough enough so that a girl wouldn't walk over him. And he's fun."

Midwest Calendar.

Many Chicagoans will have photographs in A Midwest Calendar for 1942, a regional calendar with 52 pictures of the midwest scene that Louis Mariano is getting out next month. Eddie McGill of The Tribune staff, Chicago Author Heath Bowman, Vorhees Fisher, Wallace Kirland, and Tortel Korling have photographs in the calendar, and so has Gordon H. Lord of Chenoa, Ill., and G. L. Osmanson of Morris, Ill., some of whose work has been printed in Tribune rotogravure sections.

"No Light Came On"

By Alice Ormond Campbell

[Copyright: 1941: By Alice Ormond Campbell]

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl sent by a New York firm to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her Cousin Lou, who is Mrs. Hiram Rentrew, a rich widow. Her cousin insists that Gay stay with her but soon after Gay moves in, her cousin is taken to a hospital and Gay is left in the apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace Rentrew, and the servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay goes to visit Cousin Lou in the hospital and runs into Miles Dorsey, a young Englishman, who is a junior partner in a firm that looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs; Raoul de Chabenil, a handsome young Frenchman, and Estrella, her cousin's dressmaker. Her cousin insists that Gay take her jewel box with a valuable necklace in it home and put it in the wall safe. Raoul insists on driving Gay home and during the drive he bumps into another car and at the same time the jewel box is thrown to the floor of his car but Gay retrieves it. That night Gay goes to dinner with Geoff and Catherine Macadam, old friends of hers, and Miles Dorsey. They see Raoul and Estrella in the café together and when Gay asks them about Raoul they act mysterious. Gay asks Miles to persuade her cousin to send the jewel box to the bank. When Gay gets home that night she learns her cousin has died. Gay, unable to sleep, is sure she hears some one in her room. The next morning they find the valuable necklace missing from the jewel box. The doctor says Mrs. Rentrew died of a stroke, but Horace demands an inquest. Gay learns from Catherine and Miles that Raoul is an unscrupulous gigolo.

INSTALMENT XIII.

QUESTIONING.

It was an awful moment—me on the floor, smitten and guilty-eyed with diamond clips and jeweler's cotton trailing over my lap, Horace risen, looming over me like some great performing seal. Humbled to the dust, I'd have borne almost any reproach, but none came, only a detailed questionnaire.

In the midst of it a bell rang. We heard Manx, who must have been stationed somewhere in the hall, letting in a couple of men.

"That'll be the police," Horace muttered, and with a firm, solid step went forth to meet them.

Now, of course, he would tell about the necklace, so one way or another I was what the English call "for it." I thought again of Mr. Dorsey, coming long-faced into the lunchroom with his warning about catching the first boat home. It infuriated me to find him so right.

"Damn Horace Rentrew!" I whispered. "He's raked up this mess. Why couldn't he let things alone?" Which I knew was unreasonable. Over Cousin Lou he was acting only according to his conscience, while if a jewel he'd never seen had been stolen it was no fault of his.

He came back presently to say the police were ready for me.

"They want your version of yesterday afternoon, so just tell them exactly what you told me."

I gathered that while the French police were pretty indifferent over the death of a foreigner, even a rich one who for years had spent money in their country, stolen jewels made them sit up and take notice.

"O, yes," he said bitterly, "that's right up their street. I've got them in the study, Gay. They won't worry you long."

It had been longer than I liked.

Now had come a dead, ominous pause. I glanced round the small brown and off-pink room where even the ashtrays and sunken books formed part of the color scheme. I did it to get away from the eyes that never once quitted my face, but they went on staring just the same. Round eyes, both pairs—brown and muddily opaque as if the coffee dregs of a lifetime had seeped into them. They were exactly like the commoner sort of marbles Phil and I used to play with. They bored right thru me, and now, during the pause, they held nasty little sparks.

"Monsieur Raoul de Chabenil," repeated the stout officer slowly. "You were acquainted with him before?"

"Not at all." It sounded inadequate. "I know hardly any French people apart from antique dealers."

"Antique dealers!"

"Certainly. I buy from them, you see."

"You buy from them . . . And until Tuesday at 6 o'clock you had not previously encountered this Monsieur de Chabenil?"

"Never. Nor heard of him, for that matter."

"Humph! Yet he was the friend of your cousin?"

"That's right. She called him her very dear friend."

"And you considered it wise to accept this gentleman's invitation rather than return in your cousin's car?"

I'd already explained why. I added now that I hadn't liked to offend Madame Rentrew's friend.

"Besides, what was her butler doing there anyway? I'd distinctly told him not to wait."

"Ah! You regarded his conduct as significant?"

"Well, I did think it rather officious. When it comes to that I hadn't asked him to take me out to Passy at all. I can't tell you how he came to know I was going."

"In your opinion did the butler know what was contained in this case you were carrying?"

"He wasn't supposed to know. My cousin said he would be extremely annoyed if he realized her new necklace hadn't been insured."

"Her butler would be annoyed! Tiens . . . How long did the case remain in her car?"

"O, a minute, maybe two. I did notice he didn't hurry about getting it out."

"Yes . . . And after this, mademoiselle—after this did the case quit your possession for so much as a single instant?"

Right then it flashed on me. Something Catherine had said in the ladies' room after lunch. Raoul de Chabenil as a young boy had run away and joined a vaudeville conjurer. He'd toured the French provinces and become rather dazzlingly good at sleight-of-hand tricks. Just a bit of amusing history till the big costume ball where some celebrated actress had lost her pearls . . .

"You hesitate, mademoiselle. The case did leave your hands?"

"Literally, yes, but nothing could possibly have got out of it."

I told them about the collision. Their stares had quickened. I thought of the period down south when Raoul had been sharing poor Cousin Lou's villa and I could have died on the spot.

"So!" rapped the inspector, if that's what he was. "The case slid to the floor of the car and your companion returned it to you . . . Now, then, in the nursing home itself, did any one enter the bedroom while your cousin was showing you her jewels?"

"No, only after the case was closed up. The nurse and a Madame Estrella."

"Madame who?"

I explained. I felt a sharpening interest when I said the lingerie-maker was a refugee Hungarian, but I'd got my answers down pat. The case had been set on a chair. When the new negligee was shaken out one end trailed over it. The hem had caught in the catch, Estrella very carefully lifted it free, and the whole time both Cousin Lou and I had the case in full view. I didn't mention, of course, the extraordinary expression I'd caught in the glass.

So this clipping was about the necklace, probably some note in the press at the time of the Christie sale. Why hadn't I coupled Madame Estrella's nationality with the fact that the historic jewel had been owned in Hungary? A romantic connection, granted; but then Estrella looked romantic. Mystery shrouded her like a veil.

The big point being that she was on close terms with Cousin Lou's "flirt" . . .

My joy-ride, I could feel it, was putting me in a bad spot. All very well protesting I couldn't have stopped De Chabenil's whizzing me round the Bois. I wonder I didn't go the whole hog and tell them I'd enjoyed it. As for my Tuesday night suspicions—well! It was pretty plain neither of these policemen believed I'd even imagined there was some one in my room.

I supposed they had finished with me, but when I got up to creep away they called me back. The head officer was stroking his chin.

"And your future plans, mademoiselle?"

I told them that now my hostess was dead I'd be moving to some hotel.

"Not just yet, if you please, mademoiselle. For greater convenience I must request you to remain in this apartment for the immediate present. That can be arranged?"

His politeness didn't fool me. This was a command.

Sarcastically I asked, "Am I at liberty to go out?"

"But certainly!" He was dead serious. "That is understood. There will be no restrictions on your movements, so long as your residence is here."

I slunk off, and as I did so I heard him speaking to Horace, who had been fidgeting up and down the hall.

"Next, the servants, monsieur. First the butler, then cook . . ."

All the silly rumpus over Cousin Lou's death had been pushed right out of my head. What mattered, what was no ridiculous whim, was that I, Gay Ripley, was under the horrid suspicion of thieving.

Suppose the new company in New York got wind of it? If it did I'd never land any job. I wondered what the newspapers would print.

GASOLINE ALLEY—SUDDENLY SENSITIVE

Some Advice About Play Material for Children

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Home has all the potentialities of a marvelous playground and toy store, but besides the resources that home contains, we must provide other play materials. What will help you to know what to supply?

Observation will do it. By watching your 2 or 3 or 4 year old, and there, in intelligent observation lies the secret, you'll be able to find out what additional materials he will need, besides those his home automatically provides. And then, if necessary, you'll go shopping to find these things.

The hardware store is one place where there's treasure trove for a child. Browse there alone, or with your little boy or girl and you'll see. Also, the counters of the 5 and 10 cent stores yield varied materials for play or craft activity.

The toy departments, of course, supply you with innumerable play materials, and in trying to make intelligent choices there, don't feel that you must select the objects labeled definitely "educational toys." Any toy that is well made, chosen for its rightness, and for its spur to creative or physical activity, is an educational toy.

In these toy departments you also will find craft materials. While home can provide the "makings" for much manual activity, there are some additional things here. Only be sure they're sturdy and "work."

In buying art materials, it usually is better to go to the art department or artists' supply stores, rather than the toy departments. You are more likely to obtain good workmanlike crayons and brushes, and water or tempera colors; and such things as clay in quantity, drawing paper in larger sizes and more variety, and equipment in general, even smocks and easels, all better than the "sets" provided by toy manufacturers.

Provision also must be made at home for the bigger muscular movements and vigorous bodily activity with which preschool children work off their young ebullience. There are many things about your house that can be used for this physical expression: Wooden or big corrugated board boxes are a delight to children; your small stepladder is another; chairs pushed along in a row make a train; blankets draped over furniture and screens make tents.

Post-Vacation Dinner of Chicago B. P. W. Is Tonight

Sept. 22, 1941.

Universal day—A new start on a new week, so get going early.

October—Those in a one-year this year should have made some kind of a new beginning in September and can in October sit back and await developments. Things may slow up after a good start but don't worry about that. You may have to put your efforts into little jobs that are irksome and routine, but try to cooperate with those around you. You have just had an opportunity to be individualistic, but now you will have to listen to the other fellow in the next few weeks. Don't push things or force issues. Take the duties which come calmly and patiently. Above all don't be fretful or nervous because things aren't going as fast as you hoped they would when you decided to break out into new territory.

Monday, Sept. 22.

Today is generally favorable for all good purposes, but with temptings to yield to minor irritations. And they wouldn't be so minor if allowed to expand; step around oppositions, quarrels, frictions; hold the hasty word or act.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if this is date of your birth, brings opportunity for progressive permanent changes and expansion; be alert, for self for bigger things, but don't be impractical, hasty. Danger: April 19-27; Sept. 2-17.

Tomorrow.

Seek new ways to improve your service and mental attitudes.

Solemn Jewish Rites Usher in Year of 5,702

The year 5,702 of the Jewish calendar which began last night was described as the "year of destiny", by Rabbi Louis L. Mann before a Rosh Hashana throng of 2,200 persons in Sinai temple, 4600 South Parkway. The service, typical as to throngs in all synogogues of the city, called worshipers to "consider not what we have but what we are."

Rosh Hashana, or Jewish high holidays at the turn of the new year, will be observed in services today in Reform synagogues and thru tomorrow in Orthodox and Conservative temples. The general observance of the period culminates Oct. 1, with Yom Kippur, or day of atonement.

"This year presents a 'rendezvous with destiny,'" Dr. Mann declared. "It is more hopeful than last year. People the world over now realize that Nazism is Nihilism, the destruction of truth, honor and decency, freedom and democracy. Hitler's unwarranted attack on Russia, which has fought heroically, will prove an Achilles heel for him.

"The heroism of the British will go down in song and legend. The uprising of the conquered peoples proves that peoples will not be contented with a living death but will live deathless lives. The South American republics are beginning to see the light and are turning back from glamorous promises which lead to degradation.

"Japan has been sobered and will think twice before staking her all on a Nazi victory."

Dr. Mann then blue-printed the world we want to live in, which was the subject of his opening Rosh Hashana sermon. He declared that the general public resentment against Col. Charles Lindbergh's speech at Des Moines, Ia., points to progress. Dr. Mann referred to Col. Lindbergh's mention of the Jewish group as a war-mongering element.

Dr. Mann said the new world to be will be one, spiritually, and that narrow nationalism will give way to what he called a supranationalism.

This morning the traditional shofar, or ram's horn, will sound in all synagogues during devotions to intensify the spirit of reverence and contribute toward an atmosphere of solemnity. It is blown before the scroll is returned to the holy ark, and during the additional or Musaf service.

Archbishop Stritch Sees Opportunity in World Calamity

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, Catholic archbishop of Chicago, said tonight that the ravages of war have brought the opportunity for building "the greatest Christian culture of all history."

In an address prepared for delivery at the midwestern conference of the National Council of Catholic Women, Archbishop Stritch extended what he called an optimistic message in the midst of dreadful calamities besetting the world.

"This is a crisis," he asserted. "Changes are in the making, and in attempting to meet the rational demands of men we can make the tomorrow either a blessed day of joy or the dark day before the final collapse of western civilization.

"Reveal to all men the perils of the new philosophies which are appealing to them with gaudy but empty promises. Here is your opportunity, and if you do your work well the world will begin with you the building of the greatest Christian culture in all history."

Dr. Wise Delivers Roosevelt Message on Jewish New Year

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt in a Jewish New Year's message today called upon the nation to rededicate itself "to the task which lies before us in order that all peoples may live as equals."

His message was read by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Jewish leader, in a broadcast sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal commemorating the opening of the year 5702 in the Hebrew calendar.

"At this tragic hour in modern civilization," the President's message said, "I extend to the Jewish people of America my sincere greetings for the new year, in the confident hope that the temporary darkness which appears to encompass the world shall not extinguish the light of liberty and the blessings of peace and freedom. Accordingly, with a united devotion to the just cause of tolerance and peace, we must rededicate ourselves to the task which lies before us in order that all peoples may live as equals."

Good Morning!

When a picture's as incredibly poor as this one it doesn't deserve even a paragraph. But I'll give it three.

"Aloma of the South Seas" is in execrable technicolor. The story is jejune. A grade school pupil munching ecstatically on a stubby pencil as he turns out a school play could produce better dialog. He couldn't write worse.

"Strong men shudder and weak ones hide when Lamour starts a new picture," says a press sheet. . . . Well, brothers, if you ever shuddered or hid—do it now!

See you soon.

Blomgren of Rockford Elected President of Moose Association

Moline, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—Helgé Blomgren of Rockford was elected president of the Illinois Moose association, and Bloomington was awarded the 1942 convention at the close of the 10th annual meeting of the association here today.

New district vice presidents of the association are John Class of Albany Park, 1st; Frank Linden of Joliet, 2d; Harold Johnson of Rochelle, 3d; James Ryan of Rock Island, 4th; George Olson of Galesburg, 5th; Eugene Smith of Edwardsville, 6th; William Owen of Mount Carmel, 7th, and Ivan Hart of Champaign, 8th.

The convention adopted a resolution urging every lodge in Illinois to participate actively in all local safety drives and authorized the president to name a committee to coöperate with National Safety council and national preparedness.

Critics who scorn eggplant "because it has no flavor" taste their food with a tongue desensitized by too much contact with highly seasoned, sauced, and spiced foods. Eggplant has a delicate flavor, but a delicious one, and deserves higher regard.

A common method of preparation is by frying. Slices of peeled eggplant are dipped in egg and crumbs and browned on both sides in butter, or friend in deep fat. A good sprinkling of salt and pepper, and they're ready for the table.

I'd rather broil than fry eggplant slices. I like to brush them well with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and broil until brown on both sides. The slices should be arranged in a greased pan while broiling. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over them.

Any nicely rounded fruit or vegetable of good size is bound to get itself stuffed now and again. Eggplant looks very attractive stuffed, and takes to a variety of fillings. Minced ham, shrimp, and smoked salmon are a few of the meats which may be blended with the eggplant pulp and seasonings to make a good stuffing.

STUFFED EGGPLANT.
[Serves four to six.]

Cut a large eggplant in halves lengthwise and parboil for 15 minutes. Scoop out pulp, leaving a half inch rim. Chop pulp and combine with ¼ cup chopped ham, shrimp, smoked salmon, or other meat or fish. Add ¾ cup sautéed bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons butter, and salt and pepper to taste. Fill shells, top with ¼ cup of sautéed bread crumbs [you'll need a cupful in all], and dot with butter. Bake for 15 minutes at 400 degrees.

EGGPLANT AND TOMATO CASSEROLE.

Dice or slice eggplant and brown lightly in a little hot butter. Place in a greased casserole in alternate layers with sliced fresh tomatoes, sprinkling each layer with salt and pepper. Top with buttered crumbs and several strips of bacon. Bake at 350 degrees about half an hour. Onion may be added to this combination, if desired.

Uphold Idealism in Era of Catastrophe, Bishop Ivins Urges

A congregation of more than 1,000 persons at St. James' Episcopal church, Wabash avenue and Huron street, yesterday afternoon heard Bishop Benjamin F. P. Ivins of the Episcopal diocese of Milwaukee plead for the upholding of religious idealism in a day of international catastrophe. He spoke before members and guests of the supreme council of 33d degree Masons at a service called for the council. Officiants in the service included Bishop Wallace E. Conkling of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, Bishop Frank E. Wilson of the Episcopal diocese of Eau Claire, Wis., and Dr. Duncan H. Browne, rector of St. James' church.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 20.—Sunday—A spot of work, and then just lying around, and what's the good of a diary if you're too dumb to do anything worth putting in it?

Monday—To Paramount for a look-around, and Ralph Murphy has just finished shooting "Midnight Angel" and reports that Martha O'Driscoll pulled a Dietrich—but with better timing. In the very last scene of the schedule Martha fell, getting a severe shaking up and scraping one leg quite badly. "But she fell out of the scene after it was over," says Ralph, "and the picture won't be delayed." . . . Paramount is quiet, with only two or three pix going, and isn't the boom town it was a month ago. But that's the way with studios; they have mad spurts of activity. One week it'll be M-G-M, the next 20th, and so on. Busiest lot today is Warners', with 11 flickers grinding. . . . Lunch with D. Hempstead, and afterward to Disney's with a carload of children to see "Dumbo," and more on "Dumbo" another day. . . . In the evening with Bob Taplinger, J. Starr, and Doug Churchill to the Soose-Garcia fight, and just when it gets going good the referee stops it. Any cut on an eye stops a bout in California. . . . And then to Chasen's for a session of gags and reminiscence with Jimmy Kern and his old yacht club partners.

Tuesday—To Columbia, where Marlene Dietrich is making "The Lady is Willing" and Loretta Young and F. March and R. Benchley are engaged in "Bedtime Story." Marlene, who has always taken infinite pains with her poses and angles before the camera, now is handicapped by her husted limb, which is still in a cast. When she has to move anywhere she clings to whatever stage hand is handy. I tried to get a job as a stage hand, but there's something about a union and I couldn't. . . . Because the Broadway theater season has begun, Bob Benchley and I talk shop—a bit wistfully. Congratulations to John Mason Brown and Wilella Waldorf on their new posts . . . March says that soon he and Florence Eldridge will begin rehearsing Sophie Treadwell's "Hope for a Harvest," which they will take to New York. March chuckles that he is saving the cut of his famous "Oops, sorry!" ad "just in case." . . . And on the set I run into Harry Shannon, veteran of the musical comedies, who has been here two years now and says he's going to stay here. Harry recalls what I regard as the funniest single musical comedy scene—Shannon giving Bert Lahr an airplane test in "Flying High." "Bert," he says, "didn't think it was funny in rehearsal. He couldn't understand why there was anything funny in his pouring that flask of whisky."

Wednesday—An eight hour sentence at hard labor, and hard labor on every sentence, and then to the formal opening and cocktail party at Harry Rosenthal's music store on the strip. Harry isn't there, and only a few of us are told the reason: His infant son died the night before. So those of us who know are not in a party mood. The show, however, must go on. . . . On hand as decoration is a record girl—an extremely pretty little Earl Carroll girl, Evelyn Moriarity, clad only in six attractively distributed phonograph discs. Evelyn is right out of a book—the show girl of some Ring Lardner legend. She looks so lovely and her accent is pure Tenth avenue. Dave Chasen arrives, bringing with him a priest friend from New York. The unabashed Evelyn turns her baby stare on the clerical gentleman and says, "Are you from the Hays office?" . . . Another guest I'm glad but surprised to see is Goldie Stanton, Ziegfeld's famed secretary, who later became aid to J. Kenneth Hyatt at New York's Center theater. Goldie and the staff lost their jobs when Van Schmus moved in on Center from the music hall across the street, and she's now with a business management firm here.

Thursday—To 20th-Fox, where Claudette Colbert is making "Remember of the Day." Playing a school teacher, she is clad in the costume of a generation ago—and it takes a mighty beautiful woman to be good looking in such an outfit. . . . There are many children in this picture, and when they're not playing at going to school they really are going to school, in the outer hallway of the stage. . . . On another stage, the musical "Rise and Shine" is in preparation, with Walter Brennan as a crazy but foxy Civil war veteran. The whole cast is a dandy, and among them is George Murphy, Producer Mark Hellinger tells me that when George was announced for the cast he got so many letters demanding that Murphy be allowed to dance that George has been allotted three hoofing numbers. . . . In Harry Brand's office I encounter Gene Fowler and Mark Kelly, who are collaborating on a newspaper novel. "Will it be about Denver?" I ask Gene. "No," he says. "Just any middle west town."

Friday—A morning of home work and then to the links to win a hard dollar from Scoop Conlon and Hallidwell Hobbes, Henry O'Neill, and Bart MacLane in the locker room. Bart says he's having a wonderful time in "All Through the Night," being on the pay roll for weeks but so far having had to work only three days. . . . In the evening to 20th-Fox to see "Belle Starr," and I'm sorry to say it strikes me as another "Hudson's Bay"—without ice.

Saturday—After the chores are done, to G. La Cava's at Malibu beach for the week-end.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

In certain bridge circles, about half of all deals are opened with "one club," on the somewhat naïve theory that this makes the course of subsequent bidding both smoother and safer. Players who cling to a very strong no trump bid are the worst offenders in this line. In my opinion, they continually risk the sort of fiasco North-South built up on the following deal.

NORTH
♥ K 10 8
♦ A K 10

SOUTH
♠ 7
♥ A Q J 6 5 3 2

♣ A 10 8 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 spade	2 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

This bidding occurred at several tables and, indeed, on two occasions when North opened with one club South persisted to a grand slam in hearts. As a matter of fact, a small slam contract was fulfilled at two tables, but only because East was not on his toes.

West opened a spade. The ace won, and declarer stripped the spades and diamonds from dummy, after throwing a club on the diamond king, and then led the ace and a low club. Altho it was certainly easy to see what was going on, two Easts lacked the foresight, or judgment, to throw the club king on the ace, thus avoiding the end-play. When the club king was foolishly retained, East had to return a heart or a spade which permitted declarer to discard his club while ruffing in the dummy.

On the combined holdings, however, a slam certainly should not have been bid. That it was bid was due almost entirely to the opening club bid and the fact that South then thought he had an excellent "fit" with the North hand. It would have been far wiser on North's part to start out with one no trump, or even one diamond. A three card minor suit to the A-K-10 is certainly better than a four card minor to the seven spot. Partner will not be so misled; at least, he finds the tops of the suit advertised.

Players will do well to remember that a club bid is not a cure-all for bidding troubles.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Enrollment of Upper Classmen at U. of I. Today and Tomorrow

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—With freshman registration out of the way, upper classmen will enroll in the University of Illinois tomorrow and Tuesday and classes for the 73d academic term will begin at 8 a. m. Wednesday. A drop in enrollment of approximately 750 students, mostly men, is expected by registration figures officials, because of the draft and national rearmament employment. Official registration figures will not be announced until next Saturday evening.

The new men's dormitory, the first of its kind on the Illinois campus, which will provide quarters for approximately 375 men is filled to capacity.

Members of the R. O. T. C. staff expect more emphasis on military studies, and health service station physicians report that fewer are asking exemption from basic training. One member asserted this results from the desire of students to obtain as much military training as possible while in the university, to gain an advantage if they are called in the draft.

Women's Journalism Organization Opens Career Course Today

Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism organization, today will open its third annual fall series of "Career Courses" for young authors, copy writers, and aspiring editors. The courses will continue every Monday thru Friday evening for six weeks, under the general chairmanship of Miss Alvina Iverson. Classes will meet at 6:30 o'clock in the Hamilton hotel. Miss Mary B. Alexander, production editor of the University of Chicago press, will open the magazine and business paper editing course with a talk tonight on "Nice Distinctions in Copy Editing."

Plan 'Nite Club Frolics.'

A "Nite Club Frolics" will be staged by the Austin chapter of the Order of De Molay and Bethel No. 14 of the Oreder of Job's Daughters Saturday and Sunday in Austin Masonic temple, 241 North Central avenue.

THE STAGE

For the remainder of the Chicago engagement and for the succeeding transcontinental tour, the rôle of Ruth will be played by Effie Afton, who was formerly seen as Violet. Audrey Trotter is the new Violet.

One further cast change, effective last night, brings Earl MacDonald into the part of Robert Baker, formerly played by Theodore Newton. "My Sister Eileen" closes its 32 week engagement Saturday, and begins its travels with a week in Milwaukee, opening next Monday.

Meetings Today

Chapel for Service Men Is Dedicated in Savanna

Savanna, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—A chapel for officers and enlisted men at the Savanna ordnance depot was dedicated here today. The chapel, built at a cost of $27,000, has seating capacity of 350 and is designed to meet requirements for Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish services. The dedicatory address was made by Capt. Robert L. Logan, chaplain of the 6th corps area, Chicago. Savanna pastors also took part in the ceremony.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 21.—The Green Bay Packers won another football game with consummate ease today, and again without tipping off their actual strength. They made a touchdown midway in the first quarter against the Cleveland Rams, then played dead, before a crowd of 18,463, until the fourth period when they rushed across 17 more points in seven minutes.

The final reading was 24 to 7, but the seven points for the previously unbeaten Rams came after the Packers had finished their offensive efforts for the day. The Packers had polished off the Detroit Lions in Green Bay last Sunday, 23 to 0. In the two games they made 47 points before yielding a score, which doubtless was food for thought for Coach George Halas of the champion Chicago Bears and his aids as they headed back for their nearby Delafield, Wis., retreat tonight.

The Bears will be in there with the Packers next Sunday in Green Bay, the game marking their first appearance as defending champions. Requests for more than 15,000 tickets have been turned back, it was learned here today. Only slightly more than 34,000 can be accommodated in Green Bay's city stadium where the game will be played.

Ram's Fumble Costly.

Today's was the first clash between league leaders and left the Packers in sole possession of the western division top spot. The Rams had beaten the Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Cardinals in close battles, but they threatened only once this afternoon before achieving their anti-climax score. That threat fizzled out early in the second quarter when Gaylon Smith made a fancy return of a punt to the Green Bay 11 yard line. Then, on fourth down at the 4, Svendsen of the Packers recovered a fumble by Fred Shirey, who had moved out of the line to carry the ball.

Parker Hall, Cleveland's passing star, who almost was squelched by the Cardinals last Tuesday, had no success today. The Rams' touchdown was scored on a pass by Marty Slovak, a former pupil of Dr. Clarence [Fat] Spears at the University of Toledo. It was caught by Johnny Drake, former Purdue star, who previously had taken quite a few knocks trying to surmount a very competent Green Bay line.

Canadeo Again Is a Star.

Right in the forefront of this businesslike Green Bay triumph was Tony Canadeo, the Packers' newcomer from Gonzaga. It was the third straight game in which the fleet, prematurely gray half back, had distinguished himself and added to the suspicion that here is the most dangerous man in the Packers' lineup of star-studded backs.

It was Canadeo who started the first scoring drive with an explosive burst around his own right end for 16 yards. This put the ball on Cleveland's 27 yard line. The same young man had lugged back a Ram kickoff to get Green Bay's drive in motion.

Two ineffective line plays followed Tony's gallop, then he passed to Joe Laws, who did a wire walking act to keep in bounds while negotiating the remaining ten yards. Clark Hinkle, who picked up forty-six yards in 12 thrusts during the game, kicked the extra point. Hinkle thus boosted his league yards gained record to 3,546.

All Is Quiet, For Awhile.

An intercepted pass and a 75 yard quick kick by the Rams kept them from any inconveniences in the second quarter and the third period was

SOX BEATEN BY TIGERS, 6 TO 3; 2D ENDS IN 1 TO 1 TIE

Lyons Loses Fifth Quest for 13th Victory in 1st.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Johnny Rigney, by holding the Tigers to a 1 to 1 tie in 14 innings, in the second game of a double header, after the Detroiters had whipped Ted Lyons, 6 to 3, in the first game, yesterday managed to keep the White Sox in third place by the precarious margin of a half game over the Indians while the Tigers peered up from the second division, only a game and a half behind Dykes' boys. The tie will be played off in Comiskey park this afternoon, the date from which it was moved up to provide yesterday's double header.

Lyons' failure in the first game was his fifth quest of his 13th victory and provided his 10th loss of the season. It was his first loss in three meetings with the Tigers, however. Tommy Bridges was the winning pitcher. He previously had lost four and won none in competition with the Sox.

Pound Lyons for 10 Hits.

The Tigers made 10 hits off Lyons, of which only three were singles. There were six doubles, also a two-run homer by Pinky Higgins. The Sox made six hits including a single by Luke Appling and a double by Myril Hoag, the Sox's only extra baser off Bridges, which figured in the production of two belated runs in the ninth inning.

Each team made eight hits in the second game, but all except one double and one single on each side were wasted. The Sox scored in the fifth on a double by Luke Appling and a single by Tom Turner after some base running trickery by Appling had kept chances alive, to the great distress of Schoolboy Rowe, who went all the way for the Tigers.

The Tigers made their run in the sixth after two were out. Rip Radcliff, who had singled, finished the trip on Rudy York's double.

FIRST GAME

Lyons held the Tigers to a lead-off single by Radcliff until the Detroiters opened up in the fourth. McCosky got the fourth going with a single to right and stopped at third on the first of York's doubles. Campbell then banged the second of the series of six doubles yielded by Lyons, scoring McCosky and York. Campbell reached third on a wild pitch and continued home on Tresh's bad throw to third. Tebbetts socked the third double of the inning, but it was wasted.

The Sox scored after two were out in their fourth on Lodigiani's scratch single, a balk, a walk and a single by Wright. The Tigers added their fourth run after two were out in the fifth. McCosky drew Lyons' first pass and scored on York's second double.

Higgins Hits 11th Homer.

If—

If the Dodgers win three of their five remaining games, the Cardinals, would have to win five of their remaining six to take the National league title. The standing then would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	99	54	.647
Brooklyn	99	55	.643

If the Dodgers win four out of five the Cardinals must sweep their six to take the pennant. The standing then would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	100	53	.654
Brooklyn	100	54	.649

The Dodgers have three games with the Phillies and two with the Braves remaining. The Cardinals will play four with the Pirates and two with the Cubs.

Church Religion.

He doesn't go to church, they say,
But he's very kind and good,
And people lionize him
For doing what he should.
They seem to think his goodness
Comes because he stays away
From the church that brought his virtues
Into the world to stay.
To care for poor and ill?
Who brought to earth the heavenly life
With loving, kind good will?
The world owes all these gifts to Christ
Who's in the church today;
The good man owes his all to Him,

BROOKLYN TAKES OPENER, 8-3, BUT LOSES 2D, 6 TO 3

Litwhiler Hits 4 Run Homer for Phillies.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP).—A couple of home run pitches at Shibe park today slowed down Brooklyn's dash toward the National league pennant. The pitches were served up to Danny Litwhiler and Nick Etten of the Phillies in the second game of a double header and enabled the Phils to gain a split with the Dodgers.

The scores of the games, played before 35,909—the largest crowd in history to see a National league game in Philadelphia—were 8 to 3 for the Dodgers in the opener and 6 to 3 for the Phils in the second. An estimated 15,000 Brooklyn fans, who came by train, airplane, bus, and hitchhiked, were in the stands.

Home Run Spells Defeat.

Litwhiler's home run off Luke Hamlin with the bases full in the first inning of the second game was the blow that really defeated the Dodgers. Etten's homer with one on in the sixth came after Brooklyn had regained three runs and with Tom Drake on the mound.

Making his first start since pitching 15 scoreless innings in the 17 inning battle at Cincinnati, Johnny Allen had an easy time chalking up his third victory in the opener. Allen yielded five hits, two of them homers by Ben Warren and Joe Marty, while the Phils' other tally resulted from a two base error by Dixie Walker.

Camilli Hits 34th Homer.

Meantime, the Dodgers slammed Johnny Podgajny around for five runs in the first five innings and added three more off his successor, Si Johnson, on Mickey Owen's homer in the sixth and Dolph Camilli's 34th homer with one on in the ninth.

Pete Reiser and Camilli together drove in seven of the Dodgers' runs in the opener. Reiser knocked in four with a long fly in the first inning, a triple with two on in the third and a single in the fifth. Camilli singled in the third to score Reiser, then in the ninth put the ball out of the park.

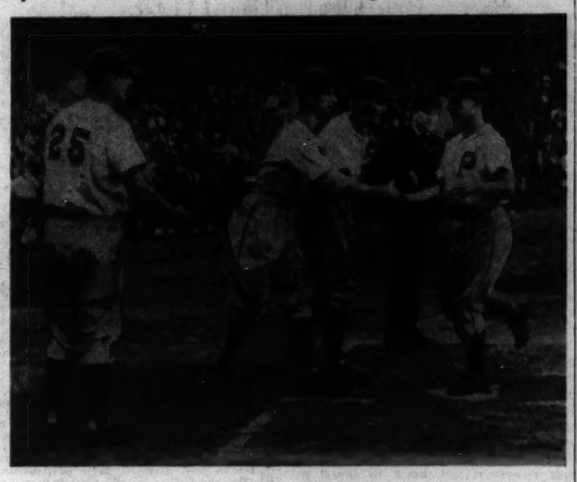
As Cards Gained on Dodgers

Johnny Hopp didn't make it safely when he dived head first into third base in the seventh inning of the first game against the Cubs in St. Louis yesterday, but he gave it everything he had, as did Manager Billy Southworth (40), coaching at third base. Stan Hack, Cub third baseman, has just tagged Hopp after taking a throw from Babe Dahlgren. The umpire is Babe Pinelli. The Cards won both games, 6 to 5 and 7 to 0.



[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

There was no joy in Flatbush when this happy scene was enacted at home plate in the first inning of the second Dodger-Phillie game in Philadelphia yesterday. Danny Litwhiler, Phils' left fielder, is scoring on his home run with the bases full—the drive that beat the Dodgers, 6 to 3, after Brooklyn had won the first game, 8 to 3. Greeting Litwhiler are Nick Etten, who scored ahead of Danny; the bat boy, and Merrill May, third baseman. Jocko Conlan is the umpire.

Snead's 272 Takes Hurst Open Tourney

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP).—Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., won the $7,500 Hurst Invitation golf tournament today with an eight under par total of 272, winding up the 36 hole final with a brilliant 69—65. His earlier rounds were 64 and 74.

Dick Metz of Chicago posted a 144—69—68 for 281 to take second place. Jimmy Demaret, who matched Snead's 65 on the final 18, was third with 282. Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., tied for fourth at 284.

Five players were bracketed at 285—Terl Johnson, Philadelphia, Gene Sarazen, East Brookfield, Conn., Byron Nelson, Toledo, Billy Burke, Cleveland, and Horton Smith, Pinehurst, N. C.

Bud Ward, national amateur champion, totaled 296.

WHIP CUBS, 6-5, THEN REPEAT IN 2D GAME, 7 TO 0

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 21.—The threadbare pennant hopes of the Cardinals, which yesterday were started for the baseball cemetery by the Cubs, came back to life this afternoon to continue tormenting the front running Dodgers. The Cardinals leaped off the undertaker's cart, knocked off the Cubs for a double triumph and settled themselves one game behind the Brooklyns, who were forced to submit to a split with the cellar loving Phillies. The scores here were 6 to 5 and 7 to 0.

While the Cubs were present for 18 innings they weren't objectionable, either to 26,219 spectators or the second placers after the first nine rounds of labor had been disposed of. They shook off a deficit in that game, gave Claude Passeau a minimum lead by knocking out Ernie [Lefty] White and then saw Passeau depart, leaving behind him a 5 to 5 tie which was dissolved at Ken Raffensberger's expense in an uproarious ninth. But the 20 year old Howard Pollet allowed the Cubs next to nothing in the second battle and the Cards made hay on the southpawing of Vern Olsen.

Rookie Upsets Cubs.

One was out in the ninth of the first game when Stan Musial, the Rochester rookie who was a whirlwind with his bat and fielding throughout the afternoon, singled to right for the fourth of six Cardinal hits. He scooted to second on Estel Crabtree's grounder handled by Lou Stringer and Raffensberger, who had relieved Passeau in the seventh. Frank Crespi was passed, whereupon Coaker Triplett, a Cub alumnus, slapped a dinky roller in front of the plate. Clyde McCullough leaped out, made the throw to first and Umpire Lee Ballanfant ruled that the throw had arrived late. Meanwhile, Musial went tearing home with the decisive run. The plate had been left unguarded.

Olsen's southpawing kept him no worse off than 2 to 0 until the fifth inning of the second game when he engaged in a base running job on which he was cut down at the plate. He collapsed as soon as he went back to pitching, four runs counting before his rescuer, Vallie Eaves, could restore quiet. Later Rookie Emil Kush, just arrived from Tulsa, was introduced and he, too, was pushed around a bit. Meanwhile Pollet had gone his own way so stylishly that when the finish was reached the hapless V. Olsen proved to be the only Cub who had penetrated the territory beyond second base.

FIRST GAME

The Cards operated on Passeau in the second inning of the first game to the extent of a pass followed by singles from W. Cooper, Martin Marion and Ernie White, two scoring. In the third Johnny Hopp singled and Stan Musial doubled to give the second placers a 3 to 0 margin. The Cubs shot this down into a tie in the fourth. After Stan Hack and Barney Olsen had singled, Lou Novikoff rode them home on a two bagger. On the relay from the outfield Creepy Crespi heaved the ball into the Cards' dugout so Novikoff also counted to make it 3 to 3.

Singles by Hopp and Musial led to a steal of home by the former in the fifth, putting the Cards in front by one run until the Cubs let loose with the blows that removed White in the sixth. Hack singled and with one out, Jimmy Brown threw wild on Novikoff. Bill Nicholson walked to fill the bases and Babe Dahlgren fouled out, but Lou Stringer doubled to right. Hack and Novikoff galloped home and the Cards were behind, 5 to 4.

The Cards had a gay old time in the seventh but all it got them was the tying run. Hopp doubled and was

F. D. R. SAID:

(Aug. 14, 1936)

"I have seen war on land and sea. I have seen blood running from the wounded. I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen two hundred limping, exhausted men come out of line—the survivors of a regiment of one thousand that went forward 48 hours before. I hate war.

"I wish I could keep war from all nations, but that is beyond my power. I can at least make certain that no act of the United States helps to produce or to promote war."

RED SOX DEFEAT YANKEES, 4 TO 1; CLINCH 2D PLACE

Cronin, Finney, Williams Hit Home Runs.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Red Sox stole the New York Yankees' thunder today by blasting three homers which accounted for all their runs as they won, 4 to 1. A crowd of 28,070 saw the American league champions in their final appearance here.

Ted Williams got one hit in three trips, a homer, to keep his batting average at .406. Williams' homer, his 36th, came after Manager Joe Cronin had tripled, and boosted to 118 his runs batted in total. This ties him with Joe DiMaggio, four behind the injured Charley Keller of the Yankees.

Cronin hit a homer in the first inning and with two out the Red Sox put the game on ice in the sixth. Lou Finney hit a homer, Cronin tripled, and then Williams made his home run.

The game wound up the season's series between the teams with New York having a 13 to 9 edge in victories. Scores:

was knocked off at third on an attempted sacrifice. Later in the inning Bridges got to third and Radcliff to second on Rip's single and an error by Hoag, but Gehringer struck out to end the inning.

Appling opened the Sox ninth with a single and Wright walked. Jones then struck out, but Hoag lined a double to left on which Appling and Wright scored. Kuhel was sent up to bat for Tresh and he lined to Gehringer, whose toss to Croucher doubled Hoag off second to end the game.

SECOND GAME

Joe Kuhel was the only Chicagoan to reach base prior to the fifth inning, in which the Sox scored the first run of the game. Appling opened the fifth with the second Sox hit, a double to short left, and advanced to third on a passed ball. Appling held third on Wright's short fly to Campbell, but broke for home when Chapman grounded sharply to Higgins. Realizing he was trapped, Luke pulled up half way to home and in the ensuing rundown got back to third as Chapman stopped at first. Turner then lined a single to left center, Appling scoring and Chapman stopping at second. Rigney flied to McCosky and Kolloway popped to Meyer.

Sox Bid in Ninth.

There were two out when the Tigers tied the score in the sixth. After Meyer had popped to Appling, Radcliff singled to left. McCosky popped to Lodigiani, but York doubled to the scoreboard in left center, scoring Radcliff. Campbell popped to Kolloway.

The Sox made a bid for the game in the ninth. Kuhel opened with a single, advanced to second on Lodigiani's sacrifice and to third on Appling's infield out. Wright was given an intentional pass and stole second. The inning ended on Chapman's tap to Higgins.

WHEATON WINS NO. 1, BUT WITH NO ILLUSIONS

8 Lost to Defense Work; There's Trouble Ahead.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The man is the least likely looking type of football coach that you might encounter. He wears glasses and has the sort of lean physical structure that would lead you to believe that he's a faculty advisor of the Wheaton college eleven. Yet he holds a record of having won three letters at end for his alma mater, wrestled at 155 pounds on the mat, and played center field on the baseball club.

In other words, Harvey Chrouser, now in his second year as football tutor at Wheaton, is the sort of man who commands your respect when he speaks of the Crusaders. And if he should chance to lean toward the so-what-can-you-do school you could hardly blame him. This 29 year old coach really has fallen under the bane that has come to many of his colleagues. Yes, it's the selective service act. There were eight handy young fellows who seemed destined for regular employment on the Wheaton eleven this season and who aren't there. Why? If they weren't drafted, they are in defense jobs which would cause them to be taken if they weren't occupying same.

Looks Ahead, Hopefully.

Is Mr. Chrouser worried? No. Certainly not if you saw him join the lads at lunch last Saturday, just before they went out to whip Concordia of River Forest, 13 to 6, in their home season opener. There was a confidence there that had to be admired, and the Crusaders vindicated it by doing in the visitors.

Has Mr. Chrouser any delusions about the Crusaders of 1941? Of course not. He states rather plainly that they will do the best they can and a glance down the pre-Concordia luncheon table would seem to bear him out. If anything, Harvey is looking forward to the 1942 season (not overlooking the other eight battles facing the Crusaders this semester) because he has some rather handy freshmen coming up. In his nonconference debates this season, Chrouser will be able, thru a special ruling, to utilize the first year men, which shouldn't harm them for their official debuts next year.

Play Macomb Saturday.

The Crusaders next Saturday meet Macomb Teachers, the only team they defeated last year, on the latter's gridiron. Then follow Lake Forest at Wheaton on Oct. 4; North Central at Wheaton on Oct. 11; De Kalb Teachers at De Kalb on Oct. 18; Illinois college at Wheaton on Oct. 25; Elmhurst at Elmhurst on Nov. 1; Carroll at Carroll on Nov. 8, and Eureka at Wheaton on Nov. 15.

Coach Chrouser has only seven lettermen returning from last year's squad. They are Co-Captains Ralph Glatfelter, Elmhurst quarter back, and Harlan Harris, Eugene, Ore., tackle; Dan Cheairs, Little Rock, Ark., guard; Walter Munro, Scarsdale, N. Y., left half; Valdo Oleari, Monterey, Cal., center; Don Patterson, Juniata, Pa., quarter back, and Art Buss, Wausau, Wis., tackle.

In addition to the above, there is a quartet of fellows who, while they didn't win letters last season, will be highly eligible for a copy of same this year. They are Carl De Vries of Jeffers, Minn., half back; Dave Fant of Talman, N. Y., guard; Morlais Hughes of Chicago's Lindblom High, tackle, and Summy Higgins of Columbus, O., end.

Of last year's freshmen, the outstanding candidates, most of whom should be starters in the Crusaders' lineup this time out, are Burt Sutherland of Wheaton, full back; Wally Grieg of Wheaton, guard; Harold Bodle of New York, end; Jim Buswell of New York, end, and Dale Greenwood of Lancaster, N. Y., center.

ST. ANDREW WINS OVER LOUISVILLE CYO TEAM, 6 TO 5

St. Andrew, champions of the CYO Baseball league, defeated Holy Spirit CYO team of Louisville, Ky., 6 to 5, yesterday in Wrigley field in the annual CYO intercity game.

St. Andrew sent Holy Spirit's starting pitcher, George Kaufman, to the showers in the first inning when a single, double, triple and a walk accounted for four runs. Louisville made it 4 to 2 in the fifth on four hits but Chicago scored another run in the sixth when Tom Caspers' double scored Matthew Trankitello from second. Holy Spirit notched another run in the seventh and tied the score in the ninth, 5 to 5. With the bases loaded in the ninth inning George Goettle, fourth Louisville hurler, walked Don Cusack, St. Andrew catcher, to force home the winning run.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Hal Van Every, Green Bay back, smashes thru the Cleveland Rams' line for a seven yard gain in second quarter of National league game in Milwaukee yesterday. The Packers dealt the Rams their first league defeat, 24 to 7, before 18,463, scoring a touchdown in the first period and adding two more and a field goal in the final quarter.

The Packers' second touchdown drive started from their own 31 yard line and when the third quarter ended they had a first down on the Rams' 21. Most of the yardage came on power plays generated by Eddie Jankowski and Hal Van Every. The last play of the quarter was a gem, Andy Uram fumbling and the ball dropping underneath teammate Baby Ray just as he was hitting the ground.

Hinkle picked up eight yards on two smashes as the fourth quarter started and an offside penalty put the ball on Cleveland's 7 yard line. Cecil Isbell faded back, took his time and sent a floating pass to Hinkle, who caught the ball on the goal line. Hutson added the extra point.

After the kickoff, the Rams opened up with passes, but Hutson intercepted one of Owen Goodnight's throws and ran it back 32 yards to Cleveland's 19. Canadeo raced around right end for twelve yards. After Hinkle and Laws picked up four, Canadeo went right around right end and threw himself into the air and over the goal line. Hutson's kick made it 21 to 0.

A Good Measure Field Goal.

The rout continued shortly after Green Bay kicked off. The first Cleveland play was a pass by Hall, which Canadeo intercepted on the Rams' 32 and ran back to the 15. A fifteen yard penalty set the Packers back, but Laws came thru with another brilliant run to the 23 yard line. With the ball on the 32, Herman Rohrig kicked a field goal.

Then Cleveland got the scoring idea. Dante Magnani brought back the kickoff to the Rams' 23 yard line. On a reverse he drove thru center to Cleveland's 49. After Corby Davis picked up three yards, Slovak passed to Drake, who ran twenty-five yards for a touchdown. Chet Adams converted to wind up a scoring burst of 24 points in eight minutes by both teams. The statistics:

Lady-O Wins Final Race for Chicago Snipes

The Wingard-Pagels syndicate sloop, Lady-O, won the last point scoring race of the Chicago Snipe class fleet yesterday on the Chicago Corinthian Yacht club course off Montrose harbor. Samoa, Jerry Chambers' entry, was runner-up, and Dry Sue, Ken Schmid's sloop, was third. Ten other Snipes competed. A light southwest breeze prevailed.

Final standing gave the fleet championship to Dry Sue, owned and sailed by Fleet Captain Schmid.

Mrs. Schmid Wins in Dry Sue.

The last of the season's lady skippers' races was also held yesterday by the fleet. Mrs. Ken Schmid defeated five other yachtswomen in Dry Sue, with Mrs. Walter Pearson second. Total scores gave the season championship to Mrs. Pearson.

Dolphin, Emerson Raymond's Star boat, won the final race of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's season for Stars, off Wilmette harbor. Carol, sailed by its owner, Harold Elliott, and Malcolm Whitfield, was second. Ruff Neck, Ed Brashears' yacht, sailed by Lockwood M. Pirie, finished third. Glider, the Bingham-Clay-Floyd syndicate's sloop, was fourth. Ten other Stars raced.

Betty Bro, Ariel First to Finish.

Betty Bro and Ariel were first to finish of the cruising and racing divisions, respectively, in the Columbia Yacht club's Commodore's Cup race off Grant Park harbor. Betty Bro is chartered by Robert Greig and Glenn Ruhge. Ariel is owned and sailed by Robert Richheimer.

A crew of junior yachtsmen, led by Milton Friend Jr., sailed Betty Bro. The 43 foot yawl's regular crew of yachtsmen sailed Louis Ainbinder's cutter Baccarat. Hope, Max Arthur's Q boat, was second to finish in the racing division.

Dodgers Beat Lions, 14 to 7, Before 19,269

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers put on two drives, each nearly the length of the field, to defeat the Detroit Lions, 14 to 7, today in their opening game of the National Football league season. A crowd of 19,269 saw the game.

After being held at bay for the first half by the fine kicking of Whizzer White and then seeing their goal line threatened by the Lions nine minutes after the start of the third period, the Dodgers roared back. The passing of Ace Parker produced their first touchdown midway of the session.

Intercept White's Pass.

The Lions, with White, Harry Hopp, and Lloyd Cardwell doing the bulk of the work, drove to Brooklyn's 24 yard line. Taking too much time cost the Lions five yards, and then White's pass was intercepted by Bud Svendsen on the 15 yard line. He carried the ball back to the 24.

With Pug Manders doing the line plunging and Parker the passing to Herman Hodges and Merlyn Condit, the Dodgers went to Detroit's 35 in seven plays. Parker then threw a long one to Perry Schwartz, who was tackled by White and Hopp on the 20. As he went down, however, he lateraled the ball to Manders, who broke away for the remainder of the distance. Condit kicked the extra point. The entire march covered seventy-six yards.

Brooklyn had the ball on its 44 when the third quarter ended. Then Bill Leckonby and Eddie Rucinski took over, with some line cracking by George Kracum. The scoring play was an eighteen yard pass from Leckonby to Rucinski. This time Dean McAdams, Washington rookie, added the extra point.

Lions Finally Score.

The Dodgers were driving again from deep in their own territory when a break gave the Lions their score. Leckonby tossed a pass from his 25 intended for Cardwell, but Ned Mathews rushed in and intercepted the ball on the 40 and, with nobody near him, raced over the goal. Charles Hanneman came in to kick the seventh point from placement.

NUGENT DECLINES SYNDICATE BID TO BUY PHILLIES

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP).—Gerry Nugent, president of the Phillies, said today he had turned down an offer made last week by John B. Kelly on behalf of a syndicate he heads to purchase the Philadelphia National league baseball club.

Kelly tonight said he had forwarded a copy of the offer to Ford Frick, president of the league, "and we expect to hear from him tomorrow, and until then we don't consider the matter closed."

MT. CARMEL BEATS FENWICK, 7 TO 0; DE LA SALLE WINS

St. George Routs De Paul, 26 to 7.

De LaSalle, St. George, and Mount Carmel scored victories in Catholic High School league practice football games yesterday. The teams await the opening of the league season Oct. 5.

St. George established itself as a contender by routing De Paul, last season's north section title winner, 26 to 7, at St. George. Mount Carmel turned in its second straight victory by nosing out Fenwick, 7 to 0, on the St. Rita field, and De LaSalle won from St. Mel, 12 to 0, in Key Branch stadium.

Fenwick Fumbles on 7.

The Mount Carmel touchdown came in the third period. A fumble cost Fenwick the ball on its 7 yard line. On fourth down Mike Granich dropped back to the 14 yard line and tossed a pass to Bob Creevy in the end zone. Pat Shea booted the extra point.

Tom Power staged a one man attack against De Paul as he registered three markers. In the second he caught a thirteen yard pass from Gerard. In the final period he intercepted two passes, ran forty yards for one touchdown and twenty for the other.

De La Salle Scores Twice.

De LaSalle scored its touchdowns in the first and third periods to triumph over St. Mel. A forty yard drive advanced the ball to the 2 yard line and Chuck Carey plunged over. In the third period James Conners, who replaced Charles Gilmartin at quarter back, caught an eleven yard pass thrown by Frank Gula. Lineups:

JOHN P. DEVANEY, NEW DEAL AID IN MINNESOTA, DIES

John P. Devaney.

Mrs. Nichols said Devaney came to her health center Friday after telephoning for an appointment and that she gave him a massage treatment for a pain in his neck. He returned yesterday, she said, complaining that he was ill. She suggested he go to her apartment near by and rest. She said she had not known him previously.

Taken to County Hospital.

Devaney became too ill to be moved Mrs. Nichols said, and during the night rolled off a cot he was occupying. She said she placed covers over him where he lay on the floor and when his condition appeared to grow worse called the police. Devaney was taken in an ambulance to county emergency hospital where he was pronounced dead.

After a post-mortem examination Doctors F. M. Nunez and Joseph Letterberger reported death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage with cerebral edema and high blood pressure as contributing factors.

Associates of Devaney said he had stopped over in Milwaukee Wednesday on his way to Washington, D. C., to confer with Edward J. Flynn, national Democratic chairman, as chairman of the party's patronage committee in Minnesota. Devaney conferred here Wednesday with nine national Democratic committeemen from various states, Thomas R. King of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin state chairman, said.

Appointed by Olson.

Devaney was a close friend and political adviser of the late Gov. Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Laborite, and in 1933 was appointed by Olson to be chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme court. In November of that year Devaney was elected to that office. He retired in 1937 and resumed practice of law.

In that same year Devaney was one of the organizers of the National Lawyers guild and served as its first president. Later it was charged that the guild had fallen into the hands of communists and a number of its more prominent members resigned.

Devaney is survived by his widow and a son, Patrick.

HENRY BEAUBIEN, GRANDSON OF 1ST INNKEEPER, DIES

Funeral services for Henry Edwin Beaubien, grandson of Chicago's first hotel keeper, Mark Beaubien, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the Congregational church of Whiting. Mr. Beaubien, who was 77 years old, died on Saturday in St. Catherine's hospital in East Chicago.

He had retired several years ago after 23 years of service with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana in Whiting. In recent years he had spent his winters at SanAntonio, Tex., returning to spend the summers in Whiting. He was an authority on the early history of Chicago, in which his grandfather, famous host, and fiddler of the Sauganash hotel, played a colorful part. The old settler's grandson, a native of Ottawa, in La Salle county, was a Whiting pioneer and a leader in Whiting Masonic circles.

Surviving are a son, Warren P. Beaubien, two daughters, Mrs. E. J. [Marian] Shaeffer and Mrs. Eleanor Hoeglund, and a brother, Arthur N. Beaubien. Friends may call at the Shaeffer home, 1647 Davis avenue, Whiting.

ROSARY COLLEGE TO GET TAYLOR'S VILLA FROM POPE

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 21 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. said farewell to President Roosevelt's personal envoy, Myron C. Taylor, today and is said to have given him a letter of reply to a message Taylor brought from the President.

The gift to the pope of Taylor's Florentine villa, Schifanoia, was announced. It was understood the pope, at Taylor's wish, assigned the villa to Rosary college of River Forest, Ill., conducted by the Dominican sisters, whose mother house is at Sinsinawa, Wis., to be used as a convent.

The actual transfer was made in Washington, D. C., on May 23 before Italian embassy officials.

ATLANTIC STORM FIRES ONE SHIP, DELAYS 4 OTHERS

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—An Atlantic storm today started a fire on a freighter off the coast of Virginia and delayed at least four other ships en route to New York. The coast guard reported the fire started on the Commercial Trader of the Moore-McCormack Line. The flames were said to be under control.

The Santa Lucia of the Grace line and the Uruguay of the Moore-McCormack Line, both returning from South America; the Borinquen of the Porto Rico line, en route from Puerto Rico; and the Veragua of the United Fruit Line, due from a West Indies cruise, were among ships delayed.

A hurricane sweeping in from the gulf of Mexico prompted the army to disperse 400 planes in South Louisiana to safer areas. The storm, which the weather bureau said was centered 280 miles south of Port Eads, La., at the mouth of the Mississippi river, was headed toward the zone in which 500,000 troops are encamped for maneuvers. There also is a disturbance in the Atlantic, 500 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle. It must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreens, Stineway and drug stores everywhere.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

U. S. SEAGOING FLEET CUT 16% SINCE JUNE, 1939

Tonnage in Foreign Trade Larger.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Commerce department reported today that the shipbuilding outlook is "definitely encouraging," but the shipbuilding program "must be pursued with unmitigated zeal if it is to assure final success for the democracies."

Albert E. Sanderson, commerce department shipping expert, said in a survey published in the Foreign Commerce weekly "It is apparent from the shipbuilding progress already made by the United States and that which may reasonably be anticipated that steady improvement will take place in the shipping situation especially if war losses are maintained at recent low levels or still further reduced."

VESSEL SAILS 22 YEARS AFTER LAUNCHING.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 21 [Special].—The steamship Trieste went to sea today, 22 years after she was launched. Contracted for in one World war, she carries cargo in another. Built at Pascagoula, Miss., by Italians she will work for the cause of the Italians' enemies, the Poles, in this war.

Lose 1,293,000 Tons.

The sea going fleet on the United States commercial register on June 30, 1941, totaled 6,841,000 gross tons, a reduction of 1,293,000 tons or 16 per cent from the total of June 30, 1939, before the start of the war, the survey showed.

The report said, however, that there had been an increase of 304,000 gross tons, or 4 per cent, in the active fleet during the two years since the war started. The smaller tonnage on the register is accounted for, it explained, "by the transfer of vessels to the army and navy for use as transports and supply ships" and by the transfer of more than 90 per cent of the laid up fleet of 1,736,000 gross tons to British, Panamanian, and other registries, mainly to offset war losses.

Foreign Trade Tonnage Up.

Tonnage of United States flag vessels engaged in foreign trade, the report said, increased by 721,000 gross tons, or 34 per cent, while tonnage engaged in coastwise and intercoastal trade decreased by 444,000 tons, or 10 per cent.

On June 30, 1939, there were 1,397 American merchant vessels of 1,000 gross tons or more, totaling 8,128,000 tons. On June 30, 1941, there were 1,165 aggregating 6,808,000 tons.

Scarce Scrap Is Viewed as Steel Threat

Cleveland, O., Sept. 21 (AP).—The magazine Steel said today that "grave results are feared by the steel industry as a result of the scarcity of scrap, which is becoming more threatening each week."

The trade publication reported that "such supplies as were obtained prior to Sept. 2, when ceiling prices were resumed, have been consumed and efforts to obtain further adequate supply while adhering to announced maximum prices have been unsuccessful."

"While some foundries are evading the regulation in order to obtain material for continued operation, practically all steel mills are observing the schedule," the review said.

Doubt Industry's Sincerity.

"Washington apparently believes the industry is not sincere in its complaint of restricted supplies because of prices being set too low. Some trade leaders take the position that the only reason some mills were not forced to shut down some time ago was that they had paid over the scale and thus obtained material to continue production.

"They believe strict compliance with the ruling will result in mill shutdowns. Some allocations may be made by the government, but this will not enlarge the supply and simply cause a change in distribution."

Week's Output Lower.

The magazine estimated national operations declined ½ point last week to 96 per cent of plant capacity. Detroit advanced 1 point to 95 per cent and the Cleveland district jumped 2½ points to 94½. Pittsburgh declined 1 point to 98, Chicago 1 to 100, Cincinnati 1 to 88, and Wheeling 8 to 86.

Larger Reduction in Use of Chlorine Is Ordered

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 (AP).—The Office of Production Management has ordered a 20 per cent reduction in use of chlorine for paper bleaching. Manufacturers voluntarily reduced consumption 10 per cent some months ago.

FINAL PAYMENT.

Has liquidation of the Insull Utility Investments been completed?—J. G. K.

Answer: Distribution of $167,819 to 17,000 holders of debentures of the bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc., as a final liquidating payment was authorized Sept. 5 by the federal court at Chicago. The payment will be $3.36 for each $1,000 debenture. This will bring to $38.97 the total paid on each debenture in the bankruptcy proceeding.

In addition, the investors have received $44.50 a debenture thru an equity action prior to the bankruptcy proceeding. The final payment will leave about $1,500 for taxes and other expenses. The court is expected to discharge the trustee after completion of the distribution.

FIGURES.

Answer: According to a preliminary estimate by the Office of Production Management early this month, federal expenditures for national rearmament in August were $1,172,000,000. This was an increase of 9.5 per cent over the $1,070,000,000 in July.

The August total brought arms expenditures since July 1, 1940, when accelerated spending began, to $9,282,000,000. By the end of August, the rearmament fiscal program involved $56,357,000,000.

HAITI BONDS.

What is the latest information on Haiti 6 per cent bonds?—J. T. L.

Answer: The Foreign Bondholders Protective Council, Inc., recently advised owners of Republic of Haiti 6 per cent bonds, series A and C, that the Haitian government has announced payment of the one-third balance due on the April 1, 1941, coupons. The amount due will be paid upon surrender of coupon. The full coupon for Oct. 1, 1941, will be paid when it falls due. Funds for the payment have been deposited with the National City bank, New York, according to the council.

FUR SELLER.

What is the business of the New York Auction Company, Inc.? Where is its stock traded?—S. G.

Answer: This company sells raw furs on a commission basis. Stock is listed on the New York Curb exchange.

WAR OPENS UP VAST DRUG AND SPICE MARKET

But a Few Problems Confront Trade.

The war, which is slowly throttling international commerce, has opened a 180 million dollar a year market for drugs and spices to farmers of the western hemisphere. This market, however, faces a few barriers—high labor costs, lack of research, and possibly, in a few instances, climatic conditions.

Dean E. R. Series.

In the laboratories of the University of Illinois college of pharmacy, 808 South Wood street, a long range program to smash those barriers is under way. The dean of the department, E. R. Series, emphasized yesterday that the problems are not ones to be solved over night; that, altho drugs and spices may some day provide farmers of the Americas a new cash crop, that day is still in the future.

Can Be Raised in Americas.

"Nearly all of the herbs and spices we import can be raised in our hemisphere," he said. "Research alone can tell us how to do it on a commercial basis. But it must be done, and soon."

Series said that in 1914 the country faced much the same problem. Government funds were made available and land grant colleges were asked to establish "drug gardens."

"Most of them were 'gardens,' however," he continued. "They served little practical purpose. When the end of the war came, the gardens were discontinued."

This time the research plots are not laid out for their scenic beauty, Series said, and an effort is being made to compile data of value to farmers.

Solves Reaping Problem.

Dr. Elmer H. Wirth, professor of pharmacognosy [the science of plants,] and his assistant, Paul D. Carpenter, explained other aspects of the situation.

Red clover blossoms, imported, prior to the war, sold for 10 cents a pound, according to Dr. Wirth. It takes a man 2½ hours to gather by hand enough blossoms for a pound.

Carpenter, however, recently perfected a mechanical reaping device that performs the task on a commercially profitable basis. Since only 20 tons of the blossoms are used a year in the United States, the device has limited importance.

"It does show, tho," Carpenter said, "how the farmers and inventors can act to compete with cheap foreign labor. The same mechanical methods can be applied to other herb harvests."

Supplies from East Indies.

From the Dutch East Indies come cinnamon, cloves, nutmegs, pepper, and cardamom that quite probably can be adapted to the tropical climate of Central America, Wirth said. Europe has supplied this country with belladonna, ergot, lycopodium [commercial dusting powder], valeriana [sedative], German camomile, and the caraways. These either are growing in America wild or can be cultivated, he said.

Meanwhile brokers report that shortages in many drugs and spices are growing acute. Since cultivation of most of the plants is a long process taking many years, in some instances there is little hope of quick relief.

Dr. Edmund N. Gathercoal, Dr. Wirth's predecessor, is also conducting extensive research on the subject. He said that profitable commercial production of botanicals in this country will largely depend on the purity of the product evolved thru cultivation.

Small BUSINESS MAN'S Department

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented upon.

HOW TO GET YOUR FOOT IN THE DOOR.

The small business man who desires to obtain government work to compensate for the loss of curtailed civilian operations has the following problems:

1. He must determine which of his machines, equipment, and employés can be used on armament orders.
2. He must keep constantly informed as to what the government is buying or as to what work prime contractors are farming out.
3. He must have engineering advice, blue prints, and suggestions in estimating his costs and filling out bid forms.

The contractor distribution division has been established in the Office of Production Management to assist the small factory or plant in solving these problems and in obtaining government work, directly or indirectly. The division has branches in OPM field offices in 39 cities.

Chicago Has Office.

In the Chicago area, the regional office of the division is in the Federal Reserve Bank building. It is in the charge of W. Homer Hartz, coördinator, and Thomas S. McEwan, manager.

The contract distribution office is a clearing house for information for those who want contracts or subcontracts, for army and navy procurement officers in the field and for companies which have prime contracts and wish to hire subcontractors. Advice on how to get contracts or subcontracts, how to pool facilities with other small plants, how to get financing, and how to get additional facilities may be obtained from the contract distribution office.

Charles F. Frye of the Chicago office, is assigned to the full time job of developing the grouping of facilities thru which several small plants can bid on a prime contract, or subcontract.

Advises Small Manufacturers.

The engineering staff interviews small manufacturers who seek government work, analyzes their equipment and facilities, and recommends certain types of operations to which these facilities can be adapted. The office maintains a catalog and cross file of all machinery and equipment listed with it by manufacturers.

To aid small business men in keeping abreast of government buying proposals, the regional office issues a bulletin three times a week listing new bidding opportunities, machinery wanted and subcontracting required.

Photostatic blueprint of items being purchased by the government, as well as specifications and schedules, may be obtained from the contract distribution office. Blueprints are mailed C. O. D. at costs ranging usually from 85 cents to $10.

McEwan said that the office can find work for plants with screw machines, grinders, planers, lathes and other precision metal working equipment. However, the supply of punch presses and metal stamping machines exceeds the demand.

PRIORITY PROFITEERS.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21 (AP).—The justice department has been asked to take action under the antitrust laws against "priority profiteers" who have raised prices of some chemicals 100 to 400 per cent, it was learned today. Officials of the price administration said the offending concerns, numbering more than two score, were mainly brokers, many in business less than a year. They are charging exorbitant prices, officials said, for commonly used chemicals essential to the manufacture of drugs, paints, textiles, dyes, and plastics.

STRIKE AT BIG NAVY SUPPLIER PLANT IS VOTED

3 More Vessels Hit by Sailor Walkout.

New York, Sept. 21 [Special].—A strike that would tie up work on millions of dollars in navy contracts at the Long Island City plants of the Ford Instrument company was authorized today by members of the United Instrument workers, local 425, of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers [CIO]. The company is a subsidiary of the Sperry corporation. The state mediation board will confer with representatives of both sides tomorrow.

The union made clear, however, that its 3,000 members would not leave their jobs until all governmental agencies had an opportunity to seek an amicable adjustment of the deadlock in wage negotiations.

Seek 20 Cent an Hour Boost.

The union is seeking a blanket wage increase of 20 cents an hour, establishment of a 65 cent starting rate for learners, adjustments in overtime rates, two weeks' paid sick leave, and three additional holidays. Wage concessions offered by the company were rejected by the union as inadequate.

Seamen on three more ships arriving in United States ports went on strike today as the Seafarers International union [AFL] denounced as "intimidation" the action of the government in seizing other vessels and sailing two of them under maritime commission operation.

SIU spokesmen said that every ship from a foreign port under contract to the union would be affected upon arrival in a United States port as a countermove to the government tactics. The union demands increases in payments of war zone bonuses and insurance.

Mediation Is Requested.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 21 (AP).—Arbitration of its wage dispute with AFL machinists was asked tonight by the Consolidated Aircraft corporation as the union completed arrangements for tomorrow's strike vote. The company said it had sent a telegram to Sidney Hillman, co-chief of the Office of Production Management, requesting mediation. The message said a 5 cent blanket increase paid on July 24 should now be matched with another 5 cent blanket increase to place the plant on a parity with all other southern California aircraft companies.

Expect Aviation Plant Tieup.

Bendix, N. J., Sept. 21 (AP).—A strike of CIO employés at Air Associates, Inc., voted by union members Friday, will probably be called this week, Joel Miller, union public relations representative, said tonight. Three hundred workers at the aviation equipment plant, scene of a 21 day walkout in July, empowered the local's executive committee to set a date for the strike. The union charges the company with unfair labor practices.

Vote Return to Work.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP).—Officers of 38 of the 42 United Mine Workers locals in district 7, where 20,000 anthracite diggers have been idle almost two weeks in protest against increased union dues and assessments, voted today to return to work and submit their grievances to a commission named by International President John L. Lewis.

'DAY by DAY on the FARM' by GAIL COMPTON

Eternal Argument.

Sept. 21, 1941.

THE sight of the work horses standing idle in the pasture while the tractors rumbled thru the fields brought up the eternal horse versus tractor argument among the men on the Du Page county farm the other day. This time a new twist was added to the question when one of the men observed that if there were a gasoline shortage horses probably would regain their position as the prime mover in farm operations.

There are seven work horses at the farm attempting to compete against several tractors. Because most of the farm machinery was purchased with tractor power in mind, there is not very much of the equipment the horses could handle.

Easier with Tractors.

The big combine, the heavy three bottom plow, and the hay baler are examples of machinery that would need a big team hitch if horses were to be used to pull them. It is much easier to hook them onto the tractor drawbar than to work out a tandem hitch for six or eight horses.

The farm horses mainly are used for wagon duty and pulling a mowing machine. Yet they run into competition in these fields also, for many times the trucks take the place of the wagon.

Still, if the time comes when gasoline is scarce and expensive, the horses will be called upon to perform many duties that the tractors now handle. The horses are not being used to their full capacity now, and represent a reserve of power that will stand frequent tapping if it becomes necessary. The men have great faith in the animals as efficient and reliable workers, and some of them believe they can plow, disk, and cultivate as well with horses as they can with the tractor.

More Work Can Be Done.

The increased expense of tractor operation is offset by the greater amount of work that can be done in a short time as compared with horses. The cheapness of horse power is balanced by longer working hours and a lesser degree of efficiency.

A survey disclosed that it cost about 80 cents an hour to run a tractor. This included all operational cost, plus overhead, repairs, and interest.

Horses, on the other hand, cost approximately 10 cents an hour to work. The engineers estimated that on the average farm the tractor replaced two and a half horses.

Between 1930 and 1940 the number of farms reporting tractors increased from 851,457 to 1,409,697. Last year there were 126,069 tractors on Illinois farms. In 1940 there were 10,616,000 horses on farms in the country, of which 628,000 were in Illinois. In 1936 the state had 739,000 horses.

EXPAND SURVEY OF JOB THREAT FROM PRIORITIES

Representatives of small business, labor and municipalities in 11 midwestern states met at the Morrison hotel yesterday to expand the survey being made to determine the extent of unemployment already resulting or threatening to result from the closing of plants unable to get supplies affected by the federal priorities system.

The meeting was held under auspices of the newly formed Midwest Conference on Unemployment Due to Priorities. Donald B. Howard of Minneapolis presided. Officials expect to confer in Washington with Donald M. Nelson, director of priorities; Floyd B. Odlum, head of the Office of Production Management's division of contract distribution, and Leon Henderson, director of the OPM division of civilian supply.

"When we go to Washington within a month," said Howard, "we intend to have complete data on the seriousness of the situation. The survey already has been started in some states, and will be under way in other states soon."

AMERICA TO FEED ONE-FOURTH OF BRITISH: WICKARD

The United States has made "definite commitments" to the British Food commission to feed about one-fourth of the British population during the coming year, Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard said yesterday.

A billion dollars of President Roosevelt's recently requested additional lease-lend money will be used to buy the food from domestic markets, Wickard said during a broadcast of the University of Chicago Round Table. He called "astounding" the figures for the proposed purchase of 500 million dozens of eggs and a billion and a half pounds of pork and lard for the British.

FURTHER UPTURN IN RETAIL FOOD PRICES EXPECTED

The increase in retail food prices has lagged far behind the rise in farm prices and wholesale food costs, John A. Logan, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said yesterday before a Jewel Food Stores convention at Chicago Towers club. Farm prices are up 36 per cent over a year ago, wholesale food prices are up 24 per cent, and retail food prices are only 12 per cent higher, he said.

Retail food prices will advance further, but the increases will result from government buying for the army and for shipment abroad and from higher taxes and operating expenses, he said.

CHARGES FARMER IS MISINFORMED BY AAA AGENTS

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 21 [Special].—The department of agriculture has misinformed the American farmer thru AAA committeemen, Charles J. Shephelman of Colfax, president of the United Farmers of Illinois, unit of the National Farmers guild, charged in a statement issued today.

"These men are asked to make farmers believe they have raised too much wheat," Shephelman said. "The truth is that during the last 11 years this nation has a deficit of 15,700,000 bushels, not enough wheat for our own use."

People and Events

Twenty-one persons who have been employed 50 or more consecutive years with the Pullman company will be honored at a banquet tomorrow in Chicago. Veterans will come from various parts of the country and will represent all classifications of service.

James H. Clarke, assistant vice president of the American National Bank and Trust company, Chicago, will be the guest speaker at a luncheon on Oct. 6 which will mark the opening of the annual meeting of the financial section of the American Life convention in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The 17th annual convention banquet of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Controlers will be held Oct. 10 in the Palmer House. Dr. Paul F. Cadman, economist of the American Bankers association, will be guest speaker.

ARMY REPORTS SLACK OFFERS OF VEGETABLES

Army officials revealed yesterday that they are having "extreme" difficulty in getting supplies of canned vegetables. The quartermaster corps has a vast purchasing program under way thru which it is placing orders for most of the canned fruits and vegetables it will need to feed the army during the coming year.

Altho the army has been able to negotiate contracts for ample quantities of canned fruit, it has had to repeat invitations for bids on canned peas, asparagus, snap beans, tomatoes, lima beans, corn, and spinach, quartermaster corps officials said.

The Chicago depot will ask bids shortly on canned peas, snap and lima beans, tomatoes, tomato juice, tomato catsup, beets, corn, spinach, sauerkraut, pumpkin, and sweet potatoes.

FLOW OF MONEY INTO INDUSTRY IS MUCH LARGER

New York, Sept. 21 (AP).—"New money," poured by American investors into the country's industries, last month topped 325 million dollars, nearly six times the previous monthly average rate this year and nearly half that of 1929, "when everything was fine."

In August the country's investors absorbed a bit more than 400 million dollars of publicly offered securities. Slightly more than 325 million dollars was new borrowing. The balance was to pay off debt already existing. The former went to new plant and equipment, the latter made no new contribution to the productive facilities of the nation.

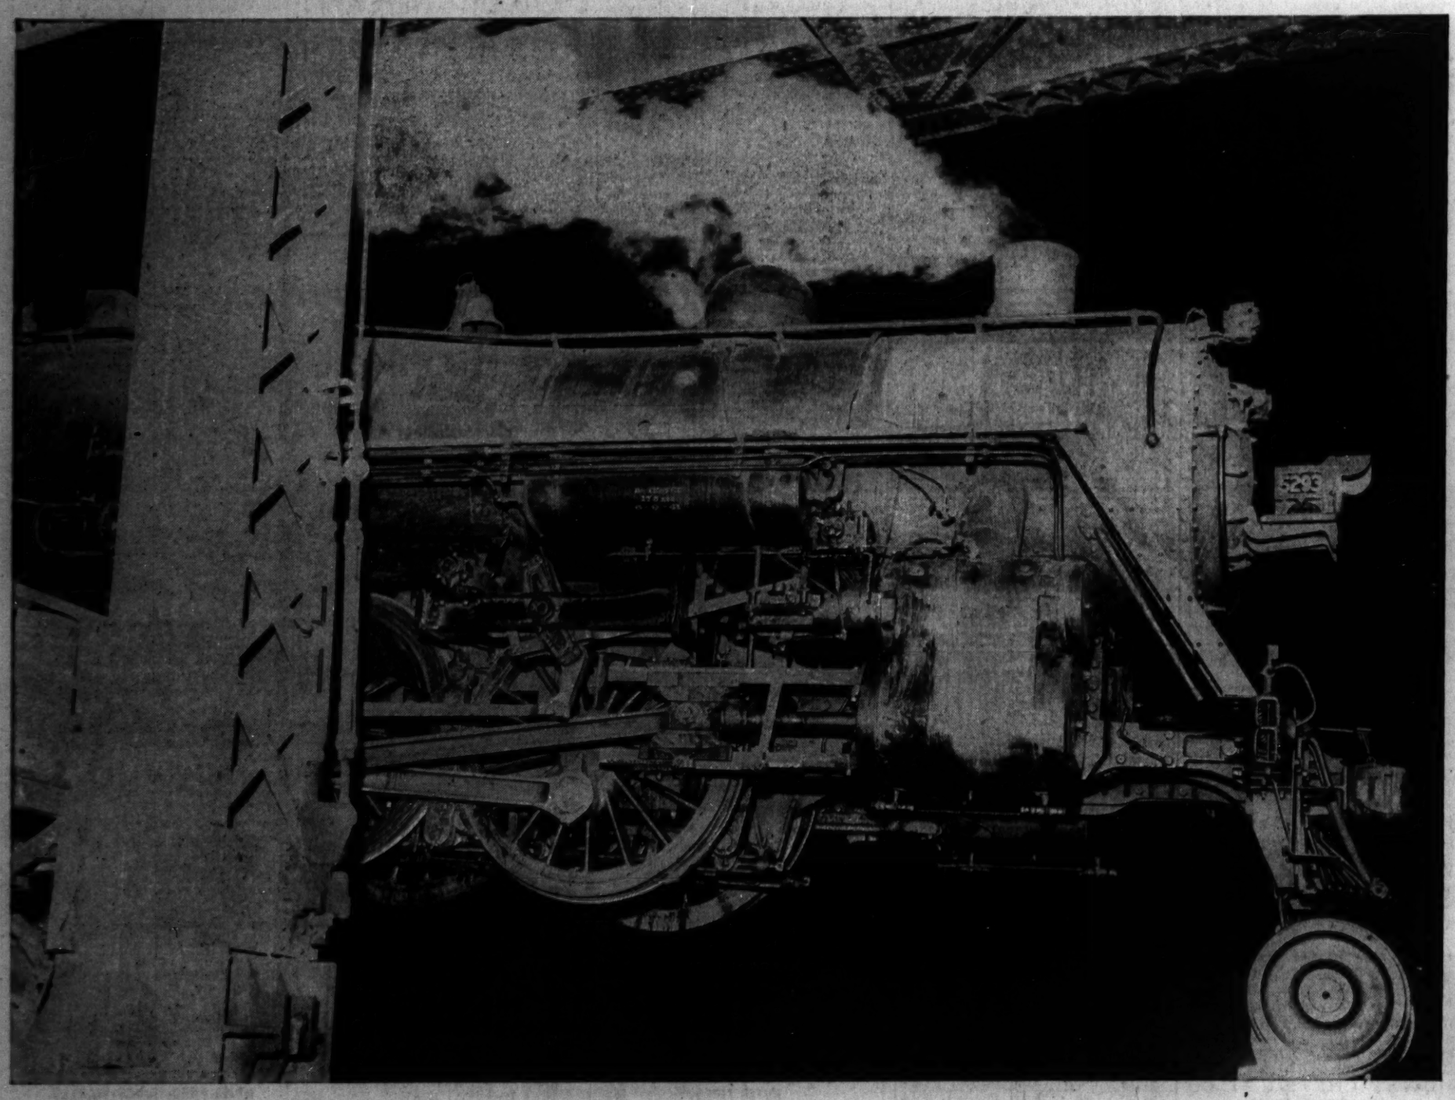
Crack Chicago-St. Louis Train Periled by Open Bridge—First Pictures from the German Drive Into Kiev



Locomotive of the Chicago & Alton's Midnight Special hanging over an open bridge at 21st street and the south branch of the Chicago river. Had it gone a few feet farther, the locomotive would have plunged into the river. The train, St. Louis bound, carried 100 passengers. No one was injured.
